'Explorers' Lost For 18 Hours

EASTON, May 27 (AP)—A 42-year-old amateur cave explorer, his son and two of the boy's school pals, were rescued unharmed today about 18 hours after they had lost their way in narrow, twisting passages of an abandoned stone quary.

A state policeman, with searchlight and climbing rope, made his way to the four by tracing their shouts. He led them to safety shortly before midday.

John Pfeiffer, a science writer, his son Tony, 12, and Chris Ingham and Norman Ganter, each 11, huddled through the night in a cramped passage leading from the main grotto a bit beyond the entrance.

Since they had not intended to stay long they had no food and were lightly clothed. They had three flashlights, but by the time trooper John Hahn reached them only one still worked.

By all reports, none suffered any serious effect.

Pfeiffer, who lived in New Hope, Bucks County, about 25 miles from the quarry, said he kept the boys close to him, on the presumption that it was better to await rescue than to risk separation.

He said they tried to sleep but could manage no more than a short spell of uneasy dozing now and then.

"Frankly," he said, "I was scared from the start, but couldn't show it to the boys. They did as much for my morale as I did for theirs.

"Being wise after the event, I shouldn't have gone into the cave, especially with the boys. It was just a darn fool thing to do."

Norman Ganter related: "We didn't know what to do. Chris, Tony and I cried for a while, then we stopped. We knew it wouldn't do any good.

"We were cold. Mr. Pfeiffer took turns holding us to keep us warm. We were pretty wet. The water dripped on us. It got sort of terrible."

The temperature naturally was a good deal lower in the quarry then it was outside. The boys wore shirts and dungarees, Pfeiffer slacks and a sports shirt.

Pfeiffer got permission to explore the quarry from its owner, Mrs. Anna Hart. He and the boys, after unlocking a steel trap door, climbed down 15 feet to the main floor.

When no word came from them late last night, Mrs. Pfeiffer called state police and the search began, made more complicated by the fact that she didn't know exactly where her husband had gone.

A former writer for Newsweek magazine and the Columbia Broadcasting System and author of several books, Pfeiffer was gently reproved by a friend: "I hope you're giving up this hobby now, John."

"That's putting it mildly," Pfeiffer replied.

Adenauer Quizzes Dulles On Agreement

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today quizzed Secretary of State Dulles about the impact any Western disarmament agreement with Russia would have on his country.

The two discussed the disarmament problem during nearly three hours of meeting at the State Department. It was the second Dulles-Adenauer meeting of the day, coming after one dealing with German rearmament, North Atlantic Pact military problems and European integration.

Adenauer said the disarmament conversation was "very frank and very candid" but he declined to give reporters any further information.

He called the disarmament question, especially the "link" between it and Germany's goal of reunification, "an extraordinarily important one" for all Germans.

Dulles was known to be ready in advance of the meeting to assure Adenauer the United States would never agree to any limited disarmament agreement which would have the effect of freezing the present East-West split in Germany.

President Eisenhower was reported to have assured Adenauer at a Sunday conference at his Gettysburg farm that Germany's views would be fully taken into account prior to developing any East-West arms reduction plan.

The State Department said only that the Dulles-Adenauer meeting covered "the related problems of comprehensive disarmament and reunification of Germany."

Responsible officials who sat in on the 80-minute morning session described it as one of the friendliest and most cordial international gathering they have ever witnessed.

A third meeting with Dulles was added to the Chancellor's schedule tomorrow to enable him to finish the seven-point agenda which had been arranged for his three-day stay in the capital.

Stassen Realizes Many Difficult Problems Ahead

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen told the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee today the United States is ready to meet Russia halfway on terms for a partial arms reduction agreemnt.

The United States recognizes there are many difficult points to be thrashed out involving just where the halfway point lies, President Eisenhower's personal disarmament adviser said.

But Stassen declared America is seeking "in a seprogram acceptable to all narious vein" to find a sound tions. He drew a reply from the Soviet representative, who said his country welcomed the manner of the U. S. approach to the disarmament problem.

Expectancy

The five-nation subcommittee met in an air of expectancy after an 11-day recess in which Stassen visited Washington and received a broad new U. S. program bearing the personal endorsement of President Eisenhower.

Stassen did not, however, immediately present details of the new plan to the subcommittee at its session of only 20 minutes. Instead he began a busy round of consultations on its terms with delegates of the other Western nations—Britain, France and Canada.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin said while he does not know what the U. S. plan involves, he welcomed Stassen's assurance of a businesslike approach.

Zorin, who returned last night from Moscow, assured the subcommittee that Russia will act in an equally serious manner.

Informed sources said it may be several days before the U. S. plan is formally submitted for consideration. British, French and Canadian delegates reportedly were assured in today's private meetings that they would be given time to consult their governments in advance.

One high American source described French, British and Canadian reaction to the plan as "good."

Jury Expected To Receive Smith Trial

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Both sides wound up summations today in the murder trial of Edgar Smith, and the case was expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

"I ask, I implore you, and I emphasize that you return a verdict of first degree without a recommendation of mercy," said Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi in his 41-minute summation.

"This killing is still unsolved," said Defense Atty. John E. Selser.

Bergen County Judge Arthur O'Dea will charge the jury when the trial resumes tomorrow. The jury is expected to get the case before noon.

Charge

Smith, 28, an ex-Marine and father of an infant, is accused of killing Victoria Zielinski, 15, Ramsey in a lonely Mahwah gravel pit last March 4.

"This was premeditated, intentional and malicious ... and the intent was murder because the girl had not acquiesced to his desire," Calissi said in contending that Smith chased the girl with a baseball bat, struck her down and then crushed her with rocks.

"The truth of this matter has not been established," said Selser in his summation that lasted an hour and 22 minutes.

Calissi referred to Smith's testimony that he last saw the girl in the company of Donald Hommell and said:

"How could you under God's sun blame this on Hommell? What kind of a vicious mind could a person have to concoct such a story."

He called Smith's testimony about Hommell, a drug clerk who has denied being in the gravel pit, "a fantastic story" and "the dirtiest legal trick" aimed at raising "a doubt in the case."

But Selser said Smith had never accused Hommell, a one-time buddy, of slaying the girl—only of being in her company in the gravel pit while she was battered and bleeding.

Selser pointed at medical testimony that the girl died at midnight, give or take an hour, and said Smith had fully accounted for his actions at that time. Moreover, he said, Smith was in the gravel pit only for a few minutes.

Haiti Returns To Day Of Normal Life

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 27 (AP)—Haiti pulled back from the brink of anarchy today and went back to work under peasant-labor leader Daniel Fignole. He is the third provisional president in the five months since the Maglorie regime.

Store owners patched up bullet holes, erased the scars of fire and reopened their shops after a week-long general strike.

The National Bank of Haiti, closed during the crisis, reopened and put tens of thousands of dollars into circulation in this bullet-scarred, economically strangled capital.

Laughing, shouting thousands swarmed the streets. Farmers once more brought their produce to the capital.

New Day

This was a new day. The people seemed to be over the passions that converted them into a stone-throwing, pillaging and killing mob during the bloody hours of Saturday.

Unofficial sources estimated nearly 100 dead or wounded from the bitter weekend strife between partisans of feuding candidates in the presidential elections scheduled for June 14.

The army finally had a pay day. The government paid the 2,500 officers and men of Haiti's army who less than 48 hours ago were firing at each other in the streets.

Haitians moved back into sacked and burned homes with their salvaged possessions.

Newspapers and radio stations wrecked by the mobs began salvaging equipment from the debris. Some radio stations were back on the air blaring American music.

The coalition of three presidential candidates headed by Fignole and backed by the army appeared to have averted civil war—for the moment, at least.

Cleveland Presents GOP Side Of Budget Slashes

"THE $91,000,000 in budget savings recommended by Republicans merely carry out Governor Leader's 1954 campaign pledges," Assemblyman H. L. Cleveland (R-Monroe) said yesterday in Harrisburg.

"The Governor has had two years to make good on his promise to save $100,000,000 through reorganization of the State Government," said Rep. Cleveland. "We even gave him the reorganization law he wanted, although believing it to be of doubtful constitutionality because he said he needed it to do the job.

It is now more than two years since that law was passed and we have yet to hear of a single dollar that Governor Leader has saved through reorganization of the State Government."

Continuing, the Monroe legislator said: "At the time Governor Leader took office in 1955, the cost of the State Government was slightly more than a billion dollars for two years.

"During his first two years in office, instead of cutting down, Governor Leader increased expenditures until they will total approximately $1,239,000,000 during the present biennium.

"Now he is calling us harsh names because we have refused to accept another $300,000,000 increase in General Fund costs to $1,533,000,000 as he has demanded.

"If we were a rubber-stamp legislature and went along blindly with everything Governor Leader has asked, we would plunge our state into bankruptcy.

"As matters stand, the Commonwealth is very near to it right now with this year's deficit of more than $80,000,000. This must be paid out of next year's taxes, even before we start appropriating money for anything else.

"The budget recommendations made by the Appropriations Committee will balance the general fund budget within the amount of taxes provided by the General Assembly and also pay off the deficit," said Cleveland.

Governor Leader has not indicated in any way what additional tax he would recommend to finance his spendthrift program. We believe that the people will never stand for the new taxes which he is trying to make necessary.

"We might as well make up our minds that the increase in state government costs from $1,239,000,000 to $1,447,000,000, when you include the continuing appropriations still on the books, is as far as we can go in this session.

"If anyone can suggest a fairer way of distributing the available funds than the Appropriations Committee has proposed, we would be glad to get their suggestions, but the overall amount cannot be changed unless you pass new taxes and nobody has yet come forward with any suggestions on that.

"Those who come to Harrisburg seeking increased appropriations for their pet projects should come with the request for more money in one hand—and a new tax program in the other," Cleveland declared.

Government Drops Case Against Dio

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The Federal government, as expected, today dropped for the present its case against racketeer Johnny Dio in the acid blinding of columnist Victor Riesel. The two key prosecution witnesses had refused to testify.

The case was taken off the court calendar and continued indefinitely. That means it was not actually dismissed; it could be reopened should it be strengthened in future.

Balky Witnesses

U. S. Atty. Paul Williams claimed underworld threats scared two imprisoned hoodlums into backing out as potential witnesses against Dio and three co-defendants, Charles Tuso, Teddy Ks kinny) Rij, and Charles (Woppy) Carlino.

The balky witnesses, who admitted a part in the attack on Riesel, were Gondolfo (Shiekie) Miranti, 57, and Domenico (Nick) Bando, 47. They took another five years apiece in prison rather than testify against Dio, the alleged mastermind in Riesel's blinding outside Lindy's Broadway Restaurant April 5, 1956.

Supreme Court Ends All Hopes

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The Supreme Court today snuffed out hopes of income tax evaders, including gambler Frank Costello of New York, for shorter prison terms. By a 7-2 vote, the court ruled that tax evaders must be tried and sentenced under a provision of the internal revenue code calling for penalties of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Eisenhower Signs Legislation Carrying Post Office Grant

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill carrying $3,192,000,000 for the Post Office Department, but said this was not enough to maintain service without substantial cuts.

Accordingly, he said, he will be back shortly with a request that Congress supplement the sum, which is for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said he wants the people "to continue to receive the postal service to which they are entitled."

Postmaster General Summerfield said the request will be for another 140 million dollars. Congress, now in an economy mood, ut Summerfield's previous request by 58 million.

Summerfield and his civilian advisory board met with Eisenhower just before the President issued his statement.

The board, which includes business, industrial and labor leaders, said five retrenchment steps will be needed if the post office is not voted more money by July 1:

1. Reducing the days of delivering mail. Summerfield said this probably would mean the elimination of all Saturday deliveries.

2. "Closing hundreds if not thousands of post offices."

3. "Arbitrarily reducing the volume and possibly the types of mail handled."

4. "Cutting back the long-overdue modernization of many obsolete facilities."

5. "Foregoing the mechanization needed to handle increasing mail volume."

Under Point 3, President Rowland Jones Jr. of the American Retail Federation said that if volume is reduced "it seems clear" that third class mail—largely advertising matter—will bear the brunt. Jones is a member of Summerfield's board.

Eisenhower backed Summerfield and his board's position in these words:

"It is clear, in view of the rising volume of mail, that the appropriation for the Post Office Department will be insufficient unless postal services are to be substantially curtailed beginning July 1, 1957."

The board said Congress has cut the Post Office Department budget to a point where it "will have less money next year than it has for this year—and yet it must deliver approximately 2½ billion more pieces of mail."

China Keeps Tight Rein On Taipei

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 27 (AP)—Nationalist China kept a tight military rein on Taipei and four other Formosan cities tonight as it sought to heal the wounds of last Friday's anti-American rioting.

Americans in the Formosan capital were cautious. U.S. commissary and post exchanges reopened but the usual Monday morning crowds did not appear. Vice Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, expressed hope American military personnel "will have the sightseeing trips.

Foreign Minister George Yeh told a news conference martial law would remain in force in Taipei, Taichung, Tainan, Chiai and the port city of Kaohsiung until the Nationalist government is convinced danger of new rioting is definitely over.

Yeh stressed that the Nationalist governments wants to maintain close and friendly relations with the United States, which has poured millions of dollars into Formosa.

Shooting Marks Labor Trouble

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala., May 27 (AP)—Labor troubles at a construction project flamed into wholesale gunfire today with two men killed, another seriously wounded and at least five more hurt.

The usual quiet of this lake resort town on the Tennessee River was broken about 7 a.m. when five cars drove up to a barricade at the gate of the feed plant being built by Gulf States Construction Co., Atlanta, for the Cotton Producers Assn.

Recognition

Some of the construction workers struck May 20, seeking recognition of the United Mine Workers, Dist. 50, as bargaining agent for the work crew. Others crossed picket lines and continued work.

A moment after the cars drove up today, shooting with rifles, pistols and shotguns began. Sheriff L. P. Dickson said firearms were in the hands of both the pickets and those planning to work.

The two dead were John Leroy Ward, 22, of Parsons, Kan., who had continued at work, and the Rev. William Clinton Harrison, 22, an itinerant minister who was on the picket line.

Rules Set For TV Battle

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Television came up with a solution today for its money-heavy "battle of the bones."

The sponsor and the producer—with the contestants concurring—set rules for annulling last week's disputes answers to a medical question on the quiz show "Twenty-One."

Rematch

The rematch between Hank Bloomgarden and Jim Snodgrass will take place on the NBC network at 9 p.m. June 3. (The program's usual air spot is taken over tonight for a special magic show.)

Under the special rules, the two will again be trying for $3,500 per point, starting with a base of $52,500, and Bloomgarden will be guaranteed that $52,500 should he lose to Snodgrass.

Drive To Restore Budget Cuts Underway

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—A bipartisan drive to restore 300 million dollars or more to President Eisenhower's sharply pruned defense budget got under way in the House today.

The House Appropriations Committee has cut 2½ billion dollars out of the President's requests for the Army, Navy and Air Force in the next fiscal year. Eisenhower has asked for restoration of almost half this amount.

Meeting just before the House convened today, the 30-member there agreed almost unanimously to try to put about 300 million back in the bill.

A group of Democrats quickly lent their support to the move, leading some members to predict that as much as 500 million might be restored when voting on amendments starts tomorrow.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee and other Democrats said they thought the appropriations group had cut too deeply.

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla), head of an appropriations subcommittee which handles the Army's budget requests, told the House "The services say they are badly hurt by the reductions.

"In some instances I think they are," he said. "In other instances I do not agree. I do think this is the tightest military budget in years."

"The bill has been too drastically cut in many instances," Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House GOP leader, told newsmen.

Martin said he expected most Republicans to support the amendments in the voting this week but that some Democratic help would be needed.

No Changes Announced In Final Official Election Count

Warner Wins Mention Under Several Titles

By Paul Carlson

ATTY. RUSSELL L. Mervine's plurality for the Democratic nomination for judge was officially set at 1,557 by the Monroe County Board of Election yesterday.

As the board completed its check of the county totals, it became apparent they generally coincided with the unofficial figures published by The Daily Record the day following the primaries.

It also became apparent that Daniel G. Warner, Stroudsburg funeral director, piled up the most impressive number of votes.

Not only did Warner win his bid for the Democratic nod for coroner, but he also captured an unsolicited Republican nomination for that office, and received write-ins for county treasurer and jury commissioner.

In the Democratic primary, Mervine received 3,517 votes for judge of the 43rd judicial district, compared to 1,960 ballots cast for his rival, incumbent Judge Fred W. Davis. However, Davis won the GOP nod with 2,678 votes.

Mervine also received 10 write-in votes on the GOP ticket, and a single write-in for the judgeship was cast for Robert Harvey.

J. Nelson Westbrook won the Democratic nomination for county treasurer by a 577-vote edge over his nearest opponent, Claude Metzgar. Westbrook received 2,738, Metzgar, 2,161, and Dr. William Andrew, 282.

Unopposed

The unopposed Republican treasurer nominee, Donald V. Dimmick, received 2,306 votes. However, write-in ballots were cast for Westbrook, two for Metzgar, and one each for Daniel G. Warner, and "Westbrook."

Warner beat Dr. Perry Stearns by a 1,969-vote edge to capture the Democratic nomination for coroner. Warner's total was 3,353, compared to 1,384 for his opponent. One write-in was cast for "Perry Stern," "Dan Warner," and Edward Meixell.

Warner also won the GOP nod by piling up 107 write-ins. Seventy-three were cast for his rival under the correct ballot title.

Write-ins galore were also cast for the coroner post. Here's a rundown on the GOP vote: Dr. Stearns, 3; L. Everett, 1; D. Warner, 2; Stearns, 3; Daniel Warner, 6; Warner, 1; Rushmore C., 1; P. Stearns, 1, and Danny Warner, 1.

Harry T. Hamblin won the Democratic nomination for jury commissioner by piling up 2,022 votes, compared to 1,391 for Harry F. Miller, and 928 for Clinton C. Frantz.

The GOP nod for jury commissioner went to Clair M. Learn with 2,362 votes. The following write-ins also were cast: Daniel G. Warner, 1; H. E. Miller, 1; Harry Hamblin, 5; Harry F. Miller, 4; H. F. Miller, 1, and C. C. Frantz, 1.

Edward Hess won the Democratic nod for county surveyor with 14 votes. One write-in was cast for both "Hess," and "G. Kempter." Guyton Kempter won the GOP nomination for this post with 1,922 ballots. Single write-ins were cast for Woodrow Keenholt and Douglas Kitson.

GREAT DAY FOR GRAY LADIES came yesterday when East Stroudsburg Exchange Club presented its annual Golden Deeds Award to this little-publicized group of women who donate their time on a regular work-week basis to hospital patients. Taking part in presentation were: Mrs. Frank W. Reusswig, Mrs. Charles Mott, Gray Ladies Service chairman, Mrs. Harold Ingraham, who represented the service and who received citation from Horace G. Walters, award committee chairman. Looking on in background is Gilbert Dunning, club president. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Gray Ladies Honored By Golden Deeds Award

By Leonard Randolph

FEW MONROE County volunteer workers are more familiar to residents than the efficient, gentle-mannered women who have become a part of General Hospital routine.

Last nights Exchange Club of East Stroudsburg presented its ninth annual Golden Deeds award to The Gray Lady Service of the Monroe County Chapter, American Red Cross.

At a banquet meeting held at Mountain Lake House, Marshalls Creek, the club presented a citation of honor to Mrs. Charles Mott, chairman of the Gray Lady Service.

Mrs. Mott accepted the honor "very humbly . . . for all the Gray Ladies in our service." The audience gave the chairman and the women in the voluntary service a standing ovation when Mrs. Mott's brief speech of acceptence was over.

Making the actual presentation of the citation and reading the entry which the club places in its "Golden Deeds Book" was Horace G. Walters, chairman of the club's award committee. Serving with him on that committee were: James S. Bunnell, Ralph O. Burrows, Raymond O. Mansfield, and W. Adolph Rake.

There were testimonials to the Gray Ladies by three men who represent groups with which they work closely.

The first of these was Frank S. LaBar, chairman of the board of General Hospital of Monroe County. LaBar traced the origin of Gray Lady services to World War One at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Gray Ladies first made their appearance at the local hospital in July of 1950, he said "and since then they have contributed a total of more than 30,000 hours of service to the hospital, its staff and its patients." Figured in estimated cost value, LaBar said that this would mean a donation of "at least $50,000" to the hospital and the community.

"All hospitals are harassed by a lack of adequate nursing services, and we are no exception," LaBar said. "Without the Gray Ladies we would be able to offer only a much more limited service than we now have. These women give the patients what they need to get better, quicker."

"But the service the Gray Ladies give should not ever be confused with the nurses duties in the hospital," he said. "They voluntarily fill many jobs. They are receptionists, they distribute flowers to patients in their rooms (and we get 100 bouquets of flowers on a normal day), they deliver patients' mail to them, they run errands for them, they read to them, write letters for them, they feed children and those who are not able to feed themselves because of injuries, they deliver newspapers promptly to rooms each day."

The next speaker, Dr. Evan Reese, a member of the hospital staff, spoke for the staff and Monroe County Medical Society which gave its Benjamin Rush award to the Gray Ladies in 1954.

Dr. Reese stressed the great importance of the added psychological conditioning given by Gray Ladies to patients in their fight to regain health. He further emphasized the faithful service given by the women to the Red Cross Bloodmobile during each of its monthly stops in the county.

Charles R. Bensinger, immediate past president of the county Red Cross chapter, praised the women for their part in the blood donor program and their work following the August, 1955 flood.

Other speakers included George Desh, governor of District Four, Exchange; Gilbert Dunning, club president; Dr. W. G. Moore, toastmaster and Frank B. Michaels, who gave the invocation and benediction and who was a previous Golden Deeds award winner in 1954. Other winners present were: Dr. Nina Mae Price (1953), Thomas Lincoln Waring (1955) and Russell Cramer (1956).

Delegates from Kiwanis, Business and Professional Women's Club, Soroptimist Club, Lions and Rotary Clubs attended the dinner to add their endorsement and commendation to the Exchange Club for its choice in making the 1957 award.

Leader Warns On Possibility Of Changes

UNIVERSITY PARK, May 27 (AP)—Gov. Leader tonight warned that unless Republican House leaders abandon their budget cutting plans the state may be forced to cut back some flood control projects.

"Unless the legislature can be persuaded to abandon this short-sighted point of view budget cutting, the Department of Forests and Waters may be forced to cut back a number of highly important flood control projects," Leader said.

The governor in an address at the golden anniversary dinner of professional forestry education in Pennsylvania, said administration plans called for location of a state recreation area within 25 miles of every Pennsylvanian.

Unfortunately

"Unfortunately, the Legislature has decreed, otherwise," he said.

"Just last week it slashed the department's budget drastically—to the extent that the new park program must be abandoned."

He also said the revenues from oil and gas leases would have to be used to make up deficiencies in other programs of the department. This money normally is used for building recreation park areas.

Stroud Union School Board Uses Two Votes To Officially Adopt Budget Of $898,240

STROUD UNION School Board adopted its anticipated $898,240 budget last night.

Board members set millage rates at 55 mills per thousand dollars of assessed value and passed two $5 per capita taxes.

It required two votes to give the budget final approval. It was first defeated by a 5-2 vote with only seven members present.

A short while later the two members who first voted against the budget reversed themselves and went along with the majority.

On the first motion for approval and final adoption of the budget the voting breakdown was as follows:

Favoring adoption: J. L. Cohen, Herbert Crane, Loring Cramer, Samuel Everitt, John Schimmel.

Against adoption: Russell Lesoine and Fred Shoemaker.

Discussion of the budget's various categories was begun after this vote, according to board secretary Herbert Crane. Two more board members arrived in the interim.

They were Harold Akers and Mrs. Helen Carlton. A second motion was made. Those in favor of adoption that time were: Akers, Carlton, Cohen, Cramer, Crane, Everitt, Lesoine, Schimmel and Shoemaker or all nine members present.

On advice of solicitor the board then brought up a motion for approval of the required millage rate, 55 mills In the voting on this motion, eight members voted for it and Lesoine was recorded as opposed to the millage rate. This motion also included approval of one of the two $5 per capita taxes.

A second motion was required for the second per capita tax. This is levied under Act 481 or "The Tax Anything Act" which must have separate board approval each time it is used on a year-to-year basis. All nine members approved this form of taxation.

When the budget was "tentatively received" at the April 24 meeting of the board, officials said they anticipate collection of $376,000 through property taxation and $32,000 each from the per capita taxes.

The tentative budget showed expenditures had increased in all areas of school costs requirements. Expenditures listed in the budget follow:

General control — $24,840; Auxiliary agencies— $38,150; Operation of the school plant — $71,900; Maintenance of school plant — $24,500; Fixed charges — $56,000; Debt service — $125,000; Capital outlay — $15,000.

Administrative expenses include these estimates:

Secretary's office salaries—$2,950 and $150 for supplies; treasurer—$600 salary and $450 bond; tax collectors—$6,700 salaries, commissions and bonds; auditors—$340; legal service—$600; census enumeration—$600.

Superintendent of schools—$10,000 salary for the superintendent; $1,750 for clerks' salary and $200 for supplies. Principals offices—$29,200 for salaries; $10,500 clerks' salaries; $200 for supplies and $500 miscellany; $14,000 textbook costs; $29,450 instruction supplies; $2,250 for teachers' institutes and $5,000 for tuition to other districts.

The major portion of the budget—an estimated 51 percent of the total—goes for the cost of teachers salaries. That total is listed in the budget as $450,000. Instruction costs in the school district are up $106,800 over the 1956-57 budget.

Plant Fund Should Be Granted

A bit of news that indicates Pennsylvania is on the way back, industrially speaking, comes from the Philadelphia Federal Reserve District.

Manufacturers in the Philadelphia metropolitan area plan to spend more than 400 million dollars in plant expansions this year, according to a Federal Reserve Bank survey of capital expenditures. This is 20 per cent more than they spent in 1956.

While the survey covers only eight counties in the Philadelphia, including three in New Jersey, there are indications the trend may be reflected elsewhere in Pennsylvania. Reports from other sections also tell of plant expansions.

Slowly, the industrial mood is changing from gloom to optimism. Confidence in the future is reflected in employment figures, which are higher than forecast months ago. Proposed plant expansions are widely diversified and not a phenomenon limited to any group of industries.

Pensylvania, it appears, is making progress in its efforts to hold industry and to encourage new ones to move into the state. We're making a start at halting, and reversing, the erosion of our industrial strength.

The heavy state taxes on industry are due to be lifted slightly next year, and there is a good chance of repeal of several nuisance taxes that don't bring in much revenue but give Pennsylvania a bad name.

We've embarked on a state program of finding new industry and helping it get established here. The General Assembly has an obligation in this endeavor in that it should create a favorable tax climate for industry. It can also give a full measure of financial aid to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Administration.

We'd like to see the Legislature grant Gov. George M. Leader's request for five million dollars to keep the industrial development program going for another two years. Any cuts in that amount would be foolish economy.

Authorities By-Pass Constit ution To Do Job

It might surprise some people to know there are more municipal authorities than there are boroughs in Pennsylvania.

And, according to the Department of Internal Affairs, these 1,158 authorities have incurred a bonded indebtedness in excess of 940 million dollars.

That's the point at which they by-pass the State Constitution. A restriction in the Constitution limits state debt and another limits political subdivisions to a fixed percentage of assessed valuation.

Here is how it works: Officials of a city, school district, borough or township may incur indebtedness through bond issues without consent of the people up to two per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property.

With consent of the people, usually obtained by referendum, bonds can be issued up to seven per cent of assessed valuation. But these are the definite limits set by the State Constitution.

They are circumvented, however, by financing through authorities, because the bonds of authorities are not obligations incurred directly by the political subdivisions.

Nevertheless, the net result is the same. The debt has to be paid ultimately by the people — which explains why close attention should be given the operations of these 1,158 authorities by the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

It is to be said for the great majority of authorities established in Monroe County and elsewhere in Pennsylvania since 1935 that they have commanded the unsalaried services of capable private citizens; have been operated carefully, and have performed essential functions in their communities.

George Sokolsky Says...

Hugh Baillie Suggested To Make Inquiry Into United States Information Agency

I come back to the same question all the time because it is the one question that the politicians dodge.

It is the question: How much can we afford to spend?

Only the Treasury can answer the question rationally. The President has answered it sentimentally and his point is that peace is cheaper than war no matter what peace costs. This, in the 19th Century, would have been wholly true. In the 20th Century, it is not so true because Soviet Russia, our permanent enemy, uses peace as a weapon of war.

This, then, raises many complex questions, among them, the question, why cannot we employ peace as an instrument of war as the Russians have? The fact is that we cannot. We have failed whenever we have tried, except perhaps in Turkey.

Surely Formosa cannot understand a policy that blows hot and cold, and even Spain is astonished at a friendship which is so beautiful in the making and so slow in its implementation. What would we do if West Germany went into East Germany or if rebellions started again in Poland and Hungary?

The Russians speak to the masses and promise heaven on earth and somehow what they say sounds reasonable although everybody knows that heaven stays in heaven and the earth stays on earth.

When to the intangible mysteries of Marxism, Soviet Russia adds Polish tanks and Czechoslovakian airplanes, as was done in Egypt and Syria, the effect is most violently anti-American although we have been spending tens of billions of dollars to make ourselves beloved as the givers of tanks and the purveyors of planes and even of bombs. Why we fail to make lasting friends is a mystery that requires not so much political as psychoanalytical research.

It must be admitted that we have been good to the British, helping them in two wars and lending and giving them money in between wars in enormous quantities.

But we did make quite a to-do about Indian independence starting way back after World War I and continuing right through to this very day. So we destroyed the British Empire and no matter what a gentle face anyone wants to put upon it, the fact is that the British Empire is destroyed and that no euphemism called the Commonwealth of Nations is the same thing.

The last job we did was in Egypt where the United States backed the upstart Nassar against Great Britain and so completely routed the British that the Eden government fell humiliated. Eden is sick, of course, but he was sick before Cairo; he could not sustain himself after Cairo.

The cold fact is that this country let down its closest friend and ally and has not gained the friendship of the country it aided, namely, Egypt which has remained a satellite of Soviet Russia.

This is an example of the sort of failure we encounter. And that brings us to the United States Information Agency which is in the budget for a big chunk of money, although it never seems to be much good for the purpose for which it was created, namely, to do propaganda favorable to the United States which will win us friends.

The enterprise has been managed by a university president, a radio network operator and now by a law school dean who is an amateur musician. No matter who runs this expensive agency, it has regularly proved to be a dud.

Instead of complaining about all the money the USIA costs, Congress ought to inquire as to why it is a dud. Senator Joe McCarthy tried to do it. He encountered White House resistance over this agency. He never got very far, although he probed deeply. He did not get far, because the White House ran interference for the agency.

Today, Congress investigates the question of expenditures, but that is really missing the point. If the agency does the job it needs to do, the expense is not great. What Congress ought to do is to inquire what it gets for the dollar spent.

Then, if the money is wasted on futile jobs for lazy men and women who prefer to live abroad, the whole thing should be abolished and a start made all over again. I recommend a hard-boiled, tough-minded former president of the United Press, Hugh Baillie, as suitable for such a job.

Tragedy Gave Her Talent A Chance

By Anne Heywood

Murder will out, as the old saying goes, but I'm beginning to believe that talent will, too. You can keep it hidden, or fail to use it—or, in some cases, just plain not know you have it—but eventually, it does come out.

I thought of that the other day when I was visiting a friend for the weekend.

We went to church on Sunday and, after services, joined the congregation for coffee and cakes in the fellowship hall downstairs.

Several ladies carried the refreshments around on big trays, the prettiest you ever saw.

Charming Designs

They were oblong, about the size of those ordinary ugly tin trays you usually see at such large functions or in big cafeterias. But these were beautiful. They were painted in dark colors and had charming designs.

Naturally, I asked about them and heard an interesting story.

They were decorated by one of the church members, Mrs. F., a widow who had been left with a very small income.

"It was really very sad," my friend told me, "because she and her husband were very close. They never had any children.

"He was a teacher, so she devoted her time to helping him with his papers, and with a textbook he had written. They were together so much that his death was a terrible loss. It was months before she went anywhere.

"We tried to get her interested in something. Finally she volunteered to help with the monthly church suppers.

Huge Affairs

"They're huge affairs, and we always need people to help serve refreshments. So she agreed.

"She was always very nice, but she was very shy. It was an effort for her to mix with the people and pass the rolls and coffee, but she persisted.

"One day," my friend concluded, "Mrs. F. called and asked me—she and I were always pretty friendly—if I thought it was alright for her to decorate the trays a little. She said they were so ugly that something should be done about them. I said I was sure the church would love it, but I remember wondering how in the world she planned to do it.

The Trays She Decorated Were Beautiful

"She had read up on this subject, so she did a beautiful job on the trays. They were so lovely, in fact, that we all ordered some from her. And now the gift shop in town carries them, too.

Special Orders

"She'll make them to order in special designs — you know, a sketch of your pet dog, your house or a silhouette of a child.

"We were all so pleased and surprised — but, to tell you the truth, Mrs. F. was more surprised at her talent than we were."

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Samuel Hopkins Adams, doing research for a book, spent some days at Niagara Falls, in the course of which he made the acquaintance of Mike Halbouty, Texas oil geologist.

"Look at those falls," marveled Adams. "You'll have to admit you have nothing like that in Texas!" "No, we haven't," granted Halbouty, "but, by golly, we've got a plumber in Houston who could stop that leak in 15 minutes!"

"Are you quite certain, Mrs. Jones," the doctor asked, "that your husband whistles constantly through his teeth when he sleeps?"

"Am I certain!" echoed Mrs. Jones angrily. "Why, this morning when he woke up there were a dozen dogs jumping on his chest."

U. S. Snagged In Efforts To Modernize Korean Units

Washington, May 27 — Two snags are behind all that backing and filling over whether to send nuclear weapons and guided missiles to U. S. forces in Korea.

But only one of these hitches directly involves the arms question. The other has no relation to it, and is primarily a "trading point." Following is what these far-reaching backstage disputes are about:

Demand by Britain, France, Canada and other UN nations with troops still stationed in South Korea that they be consulted before the U. S. employs nuclear and "push-button" weapons there.

In exchange for agreeing to the U. S. equipping its forces with such armaments, the allies be allowed to further expand their trade with Red China.

Closed-door discussions over more relaxing of the embargo list against China are now underway in Paris. This is the third such revision since 1955.

The U. S. is adamantly opposed to selling any strategic supplies to the Reds. But while barring that from this country, Secretary Dulles has agreed to a number of exceptions sought by the allies. In the current negotiations on that, he is insisting they have no connection with providing U. S. forces with atomic and other modern weapons.

Britain and France do not dispute that. They concur the two problems are separate, and should be handled separately.

But at the same time they are pressing both issues simultaneously.

In effect, Britain, France and other allies are dragging their feet on what the U. S. proposes to do about modernizing armaments in Korea, while urging the U. S. to accede to increased trade with Communist China.

Ostensibly the two are unrelated. But the U. S. to get what it wants, clearly will have to give in to its allies on what they want.

Grave Peril—The allies hold two trump cards to back up their demands.

One of these potent "persuaders" is the requirement that the 16 UN nations, which resisted the Communist aggression in South Korea, must agree among themselves on major military changes there. This is a main provision of their historic "Declaration of July 27, 1953," following the armistice agreement.

This Declaration is the basis of the stand by Britain, France, Canada and other allies that they be consulted before the U. S. uses atomic weapons and guided missiles in Korea, should fighting break out there again.

The allies' other trump card is the steadily worsening military situation in that war-shattered land.

That is why the U. S. is so urgently anxious to strengthen UN forces there.

The speediest and most effective way to do that is with nuclear weapons and guided missiles—such as the MATADOR with a range up to 500 miles, and 280mm atomic cannon now on nearby Okinawa.

The need for such bulwarking is due to the grim fact that the Communists now have heavy superiority in both numbers and fire power.

Following are the major components of their forces in North Korea: Combined Chinese and North Korean troop strength of more than 900,000; estimated 750 Russian jet fighters and bombers; several hundred tanks, and scores of rocket positions.

All these Red weapons are in direct violation of the cease-fire agreement. It explicitly bars the introduction of new armaments in Korea.

Against this massive Communist strength the UN allies have: Combined total of around 600,000 troops, the bulk of them ROKs; less than 300 jet combat planes; and no "push-button" weapons.

The U. S. now has only two divisions in Korea. Other UN forces still there are Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, France, Colombia, Turkey, Thailand.

Twice before the U. S. has proposed modernizing armaments in Korea. Both were blocked by the allies, chiefly Britain and France. Despite the Communists' known extensive violations of the armistice pact, the allies insisted on its meticulous observance of the UN powers.

But they now appear to be willing to give ground—in exchange for being allowed to sell more goods to the Reds.

Flashes—This is the week for the Air Force's long-awaited test of its intercontinental ballistic missile ATLAS. The fateful trial of this ICBM is slated to take place in the next few days. It will be at Patrick Airbase, Cape Canaveral, Fla., and if all goes well the prototype should soar upwards of 700 miles and fly approximately 2,000 miles into the Atlantic. The ATLAS has an estimated range of 5,000 miles, but this test is being limited to less than half that distance. . . . Mrs. Joseph McCarthy will receive a $292 monthly pension under the contributory pension system Congress has for its members and employees. These monthly payments will be in addition to the $22,500 voted Mrs. McCarthy as the widow of a senator. That is the traditional practice of Congress, to vote a year's pay to wives of members who die in office.

Big Events On Agenda This Week

By Jim Riley

Monroe County will be the center of the stage for two outstanding performances this week, one at Pocono Manor and the other at East Stroudsburg.

The East Stroudsburg attraction is the appearance of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians at the college tomorrow, with all proceeds going to the Monroe County YMCA.

At Pocono Manor on Thursday, some of the top golfers in the country will take part in an exhibition. The list includes Jack Cuttle, Art Wall, Arnold Palmer and "Brud" Brown.

All proceeds of the golfing event, as was the case last year, will go to the Heart Fund and Cancer Assn.

If the crowd matches that of last September both organizations will make a good haul.

Tomorrow we'll touch further on the Fred Waring appearance.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

Dear Editor:

Memorial Day, 1957 is a day in memory of those who have passed on, a day the Flag has been placed on the graves of those veterans who wore the uniform in defense of their country in time of war.

The flag honors all. The marker in which the Flag is placed on the grave represents each war and all of the people in each conflict.

The Flag also honors the living and is the symbol of the freedom this country has given them.

Jefferson fought for the government of the people, by the people and for the people and for religious freedom. At the same time he worked hard to give the people a Bill of Rights to protect this government and themselves.

Use your rightful way, no one can use it for you. If you don't, some outfit will come along and want to sell us a one-world form of government.

There are three things we all should have in our homes: Ten Commandments, Bill of Rights and Americanism. Americanism is an unfailing love of country, loyalty to its institutions and ideals, eagerness to defend it against all enemies, undivided allegiance to the Flag and a desire to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and posterity.

In Stroudsburg Cemetery, you will see the markers on the graves of all our war veterans. There is the grave of one who helped throw the tea overboard in Boston Harbor, then joined the Revolutionary Army and fought through the war, was wounded and settled down in the West End of Monroe County.

On the grave of Captain Richard Staples are the Revolutionary marker and the Stars and Stripes. Some of our older people only go back to this man's great, great grandfather.

Life is like the bud of a flower that blooms, lives a while and dies. Our government is like the root of the plant of the stalk that lives and blooms again in a new generation. It's the memory I bring you, not these few words of my own convictions.

I'm a member of the Graves Committee of Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars. I write this in honor and memory of our departed committee chairman, Howard Mount, and those committee members who have passed on.

In 1944, the Sons of Union Veterans turned their assignment of placing the flags on the veterans' graves over to the VFW. And Howard Mount, who was appointed chairman of the Graves Committee, organized his workers throughout the county.

The chairman held his appointment 12 years until his death. His duties included placing the flags on graves, keeping the records of veterans, helping the sick gain entrance to hospitals, seeing that he got there, visiting the sick, and performing many other duties as service officer of the post and chairman of the Joint Memorial Committee for several

Two Plymouth People Hurt In Accident

DELAWARE WATER GAP—A Luzerne County couple was injured late Sunday night while trying to avoid a drunk who was walking aimlessly on Foxtown Hill.

Stroudsburg State Police said Mrs. Hazel Rosser, 39, of Plymouth, was in satisfactory condition at General Hospital last night. She suffered contusions and a possible chest injury.

Discharged

Her husband, William Rosser, Jr., 42, operator of the car, received lesser injuries and was discharged after treatment, troopers said.

The Rosser's car was completely demolished about midnight when they tried to avoid hitting the unidentified drunk, State Police said. The auto swerved across the highway and overturned.

Troopers were unable to locate the drunk.

Woman Rescued From Boat Drifting In Delaware River

JACK COURTNEY, superintendent of services at Shawnee Inn, took an unexpected boat trip.

He paddled onto the Delaware River about 9:30 a.m. to retrieve a boat that was drifting downstream with a woman in it.

The woman, Mrs. Sophie Frank of New York, and a number of other people who are attending American Spice and Trade Assn. convention, had gone to the river to participate in boat races.

Mrs. Frank was reported inexperienced in rowing and soon found her boat drifting away from the others in her party.

Courtney, who was on the river bank, saw the woman's plight, and with the help of other spectators launched a canoe.

Mrs. Frank was taken to her room, where a physician treated her for slight shock.

Bangor Council Agrees To Share Expense

BANGOR—Borough Council last night agreed to pay one-third of the cost of establishing police protection from the Northampton County sheriff's office at the strike-bound Blue Ridge Textile Co.

It is understood that the firm and the union will share the remainder of the cost.

Atty. James Pritchard, acting borough solicitor, was authorized by council to secure the signatures of both sides and management to this contract.

Authority

Council retained the authority to terminate this protection when it is of the opinion it no longer is needed. It will only go into effect if all parties sign the pact.

Chief Burgess Hayden B. Pritchard was empowered to make arrangements with Sheriff William Hontz to provide two deputies for the work. They will be paid $10 daily for eight hour shifts, plus the cost of transportation and one meal per day.

Council's action came after various incidents of violence had been reported at the plant, which has been on strike for the last three weeks.

Bushkill Author, Artist, Subject In Art Magazine

The May issue of American Artist, national art magazine, stars three Bushkill residents as author, painter and model.

Featured is an article by Beatrice Edgerly, artist and writer, in private life, Mrs. J. Havard Macpherson, wife of the artist and art instructor of Bushkill. In it she describes a demonstration of the painting of a water color portrait, using Charloes O. Golden, for some years a resident of Bushkill, and now associated with the Macphersons in the Southern Arizona School of Art in Tucson, as the artist.

The third Bushkill resident to appear in the article is Allen Van Campen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Welles Van Campen, of Bushkill, whose water color portrait is used as one of the illustrations.

In the article, Beatrice Edgerly illustrates with photographs the step-by-step process of the creation of a portrait, the subject being Ben J. McKinney, for 18 years U. S. Marshal and former sheriff of Pima Co., Arizona.

Powder Puff Derby

Macpherson has recently returned to his Bushkill studio to start his summer art classes in drawing and painting. His wife, art editor and art columnist of the Arizona Daily Star in Tucson, is planning to enter again the All Woman Transcontinental Air Race, known familiarly as the Powder Puff Derby. She will fly from San Mateo, Cal., to Philadelphia where her husband will meet her.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Me and the weather vanes! We had our troubles yesterday settling down to anything. One minute a sort of damp heat would settle down so solidly that there didn't seem to be enough air to get a decent breath of.

The next minute the sun would come out bright and hot and you'd feel your spirits lifting with the rising ceiling only to go dipping and diving and tugging like a kite as the wind came up and the black clouds came over and the trees tugged at their roots, trying to fly.

You were either gasping for breath in an airless world or trying to get the breath back the wind was blowing away, yawning one minute and clutching at your hair the next.

The Monday wash was taking a beating, too, hanging limp and absorbing moisture part of the time and flapping like mad part of the time and in between hanging in tangled knots.

People, too. You'd watch their eyes getting heavy and their heads starting to nod as fatigue fastened itself firmly, only to be brought wide awake when the wind started sounding like an express train in the trees over head and the branches started banging against the side of the house like some ghostly visitor.

Maybe today the weather will settle down to one thing or another, but I've sort of given up hope for myself.

Mothers To Picnic

Picnic supper of lunchroom mothers of St. Matthew's School will be held at Peter Margretta's, Fifth St., Tuesday at 6:30 p. m.

HANDY TIPS. Do your hands and arms appear gangling in abbreviated summer fashions? If so, you will see magical improvement the moment you try these actions before a mirror:

1. Make a loose fist with one hand and place knuckles on hip just behind hipbone; hold elbow in straight line with shoulder. Rest back of other hand behind body, low on hip. 2. Keeping elbow and wrist relaxed, rest one hand on thigh, thumb turned outward. Rest back of other hand behind body, high on hip.

With practice, the actions become second nature and what's more lead to equally pleasing variations. All of which increase your grace-ability!

Clues To Good Carriage

Variety In Meat Loaf For Family Dinner

Meat loaf with a different switch will add variety to a family dinner. Try it with noodles, salad, spinich, a bread tray, fresh fruit dessert and beverage.

Beef and Sausage Loaf

Ingredients: 1 pound ground lean beef chuck, 1 pound bulk-style pork sausage, 1 egg, ¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1 medium-sized raw potato (peeled and finely grated), ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 small garlic clove (peeled and crushed).

Method: Mix together the beef, sausage and egg with a wide fork or your fingers. Mix in thoroughly the bread crumbs, grated potato, salt, pepper to taste and garlic. Pack into a loaf pan (about 9 by 5 by 2¾ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Drain off fat and turn out. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and garnish with parsley if desired. This loaf has to be cut carefully while it is hot; it slices beautifully when cold. Thin slices of the leftover loaf are delicious reheated in a little butter in a skillet. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

What Young People Think

Scholastic Grades Number One Concern Of Modern Teener Set

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

GRADES, not girl-boy problems, worry today's teenagers most.

This doubtless will surprise those adults who are convinced young people are a carefree, irresponsible lot. They should listen to this:

Eugene Gilbert

Our survey of youngsters across the country shows that 42 per cent worry "a good deal" about getting good grades. More than 25 per cent say it is their chief concern.

Joe, an 18-year-old Dartmouth freshman, explains:

"I want to prove my parents are making a good investment."

Joe Zorch, Katonah, N. Y., says it this way: "I don't want to let my family down for their many sacrifices to put me through college."

Other teens have varied reasons for their concern over grades.

Kathryn, 16-year-old Minnesota girl, chalks up her school worry to: "I'm trying to meet standards set up by brothers and sisters."

Worries Are Real

Terence Gilheany, Forest Hills, N. Y., has done a bit of soul-searching. He says, "I believe I have become too caught up in the competitive spirit of modern education."

Most youngsters worry about something. Their parents might think teen-age troubles trivial compared with their own. But the anxieties of the young are very real and deeply felt.

The future worries an increasingly large percentage of young people. More than 33 per cent find their future a matter of nagging concern and 32 per cent think it is their biggest worry.

Why the future?

Youngsters worry about lack of plans or goals for the time when they'll be out of school and on their own. They're afraid they won't "find themselves." They're troubled that they won't be successful in their fields. The world in which they will be unprotected as well as unknown looms frighteningly big.

Boy and Girl Problems

After grades and the future come the problems most adults usually suspect are lurking around the corner all the time: popularity, boy-girl relationships, appearance.

One out of four teens are hot and bothered about their popularity—or lack of it. Carol, 16, says: "I'm always worried they're going to find something wrong with me."

About the irritating, puzzling opposite sex:

One out of four girls over 16 admit boys are their particular problem. Almost one out of three under 16 feel the same way. First they worry about how to get either one special fellow or an acceptable number of escorts. Then they lie awake fretting about how to keep the lads interested.

Meanwhile, the same young men are at sixes and sevens over the girls. The younger boys show more concern. Of the under-16 youths we interviewed 35 per cent say girls are almost more trouble than they're worth, compared with 24 per cent of the over-16s of similar persuasion.

One college man complains: "They cause your mind to wander while studying."

Adult Opinion Important

Both boys and girls—a good one-third of those queried—are concerned about their appearance because they feel attractiveness is necessary for success with the opposite gender.

But Don, a Massachusetts boy, is confident in this matter. He says: "My appearance is important, because after all, I have to keep the girls happy. Popularity doesn't worry me. How could it with my looks?"

Oh well, probably Adonis had a sense of humor.

Young people are concerned about what adults think of them. Twenty-eight per cent of the youngsters interviewed admit this is a major worry. A Massachusetts college freshman explains: "I consider them better judges of me than my contemporaries."

Margaret Johnson, 16, Fergus Falls, Minn., insists: "Naturally I don't want adults to think I'm a 'crazy teen-ager,' as they classify so many young people."

Practical considerations, especially money, plague more than one-third of the teens we questioned. They worry over insufficient funds for dating and for buying the things they want.

Hinkle Livengood of the University of North Carolina sums up his attitude toward money: "My only worry is that I never have any."

Cut Off Point

International problems trouble 28 per cent of the questioned youth. A Dartmouth sophomore worries: "I don't know how I'd stand up under battle and I'm afriad I might be 'chicken.'"

National problems concern 16 per cent.

A Chapel Hill, N. C. lad, Charles Black, answers our questionnaire: "National problems: I want to die of old age.

'International problems: Real old age."

Moral questions trouble 24 per cent. Jack Stout, 19, says: "Spiritual satisfaction and free conscience is of the utmost importance for happiness."

Two North Carolinians offer their solutions to worry:

Hugh, 18: "This is my prescription: If something can be done, do it; if a situation cannot be altered, don't worry about it."

Art, 18: "Be sort of carefree—happy go lucky. You'll live longer that way—without ulcers."

OFFICIALS LEAD the procession of Graduates in ceremony at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday. The line of march is shown winding itself into the college auditorium.

Twenty Area Students Graduate From ESSTC

TWENTY Monroe County residents were among the 129 graduates of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College who received their degrees yesterday morning.

The ceremony was held in the auditorium at 10 a. m., and marked the 64th class to be awarded degrees.

The program began with the filing in of the graduates and Rev. Harold C. Eaton's invocation and the first section of the commencement drew to a close with the chorus' rendition of "Send Forth Thy Spirit."

Major Rex Morgan, assistant professor of military science at Cornell's ROTC Unit was the principal speaker. His topic was "The Time to eRad The Stars."

The high point of the morning's service came right after the speech as Dr. Francis B. McGarry, dean of instruction, introduced the graduates, and president of the college LeRoy J. Koehler conferred the degrees.

The 20 local graduates were: Stroudsburg — Frank Andrew Hertung, David A. Frailey, Jane Anne Marshall, James Kent Miller, Patricia J. Papson, Fred E. Smith, and Martin Thomas Bryer;

East Stroudsburg — Sherry Margaret Plattenburg, Nancy J. May, Mrs. Mary Sterner, Russell LeBar, Richard Charles Merring, Donald James McKeand, Phillip Earl Steward, Beverly Ann Long, Mrs. Mary Sue Harvey Mitke, and Janet N. Steward.

Also, Mary Louise Lynch, Tobyhanna; James Otto Seese, Bushkill; and Mrs. Jeanne Majer May, Mt. Pocono.

The chorus returned to delight the participants with renditions of "Father Most Holy" and "Go Down Moses." Then the Rev. Eaton closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

Prior to the ceremony, the graduates attended the baccalaureate services on Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. in the auditorium. Giving the sermon was Dr. Colin F. Miller, dean of the Chapel at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.

The ushers at graduation were Frank Ashcroft, Faye Dallmeyer, Richard George, Richard Hilliard, Louise Koller, Thomas Kilker, Rosemary Lobb, Helen Potter, Robert Sprau, and Barbara Wellington.

Shapiro To Fight Reduction In Department

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—Harry Shapiro, staet welfare secretary, told some 400 social welfare workers today that he doesn't intend to let Republicans get away with a 27 million dollar reduction in his department's budget.

don't intend to let them get away with it. There's no rhyme or reason to these proposed cuts," Shapiro said at a rally.

Amount

"What it means is to destroy every program which we've undertaken and progressed in during the past two years."

Republicans, planning a 94¼ million dollar overall slash in Gov Leader's proposed record budget would cut welfare to 194 millions

But Shapiro contended the slash actually will amount to 54 million dollars.

Green Sets Age Record In Congress

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—At 9:59 a.m. today a small, neat man, his eyes a-twinkle behind rimless glasses, hurried into room F53 of the Capitol.

As usual, Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI) was right on time. The hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he's the chairman, was scheduled to start at 10. As usual, he was the first senator to arrive.

About the only thing unusual was that on this day, when Green is 89 years, 7 months and 26 days old, he has become the oldest man ever to serve in the U.S. Congress, House or Senate.

Nature failed to cooperate with him on this great occasion.

Exercise

Green is fond of exercise — he recently gave up tennis, not because it's too strenuous but because he no longer has the time—and he started to walk to work as is his habit. After all it's only a mile and a half from the University Club, where he has bachelor quarters, to the Senate. It was drizzling rain.

"A friend came by in his car," Green said, in a hurt tone. "He insisted that I get in."

There has been considerable dispute among statisticians over the exact date for Green's record. He even was proclaimed champ once before only to have a new name bob up.

Now it appears to be certain that Green has beaten the record held by Rep. Charles M. Stedman of North Carolina, who died in office on Sept. 23, 1930, aged 89 years, 7 months and 25 days.

There's an endless supply of stories about Green.

About his frugality — he is one of the Senate's wealthiest members, but he's not inclined to throw money about. A cab driver, watching Green climb the hill toward the Capitol, said: "Look at him, always talking about exercise. The real reason he walks is to save 40 cents."

About the way he runs his committee — most chairmen diplomatically cover up absenteeism, but Green seems to delight in calling the roll.

United States Rejects Red Hungary's Legation Demand

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The United States today rejected emphatically a Hungarian demand to reduce drastically the personnel of the U.S. legation in Budapest.

The Hungarian demand "is another instance of a restrictive and arbitrary measure imposed by a Soviet satellite regime" State Department spokesman Lincoln White told a news conference.

"The United States rejects the concept implicit in this note that the Hungarian regime enjoys the prerogative of deciding the size of our diplomatic mission at Budapest," White said.

The Hungarian government has demanded that 13 members of the legation — more than a third of the staff — leave within six weeks.

In a note delivered Saturday, the Hungarian regime alleged that legation members have been "extremely active" in relations with hostile elements.

Supreme Court Denies Appeal By Moon

HARRISBURG, May 27, (AP)—Norman W. Moon's appeal against the death penalty for the 1954 fatal courtroom shooting of Judge Allison D. Wade was denied today by the Supreme Court.

"As long as we are to have the death penalty in Pennsylvania, certainly this is a case for its imposition," declared the majority opinion. Justice Michael A. Musmanno disagreed, stating in his dissent, "as long as we have in Pennsylvania the rule that an insane person should not be executed, certainly this is the case to apply it."

Moon, an electrician now 32, sprayed a volley of bullets from a pistol at the bench of the Warren County Court, killing Judge Wade almost instantly. He later maintained he was not sane at the time.

Default

Moon had been called into court for defaulting $1,600 on a support order for his wife.

The majority opinion, written by Justice John C. Arnold, said "we have reviewed both the law and the evidence in this record and have determined that all the ingredients necessary to constitute murder in the first degree have been proved to exist."

Moon asked the high court to set aside his death sentence and order a new trial because he contended he failed to receive a fair and impartial trial. The Warren County Court denied the request and Moon appealed to the Supreme Court.

There was on indication whether the appeal would be carried beyond the state's top court. Moon can also appeal to the State Pardons Board to reduce the death penalty, recommended by the Warren County jury which found him guilty three years ago this month.

Leader Issues Warning

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—Gov. Leader today urged motorists to guard against "needless tragedy" while driving during the Memorial Day holiday.

IT COMES to this corner that the annual County Field Day may become a thing of the past within a few years. This event, which in former years used to draw every school within the confines of Monroe, is now down to the shameful number of only four participating institutions.

There was a time, not just here but everywhere, when the schoolboys county field day was an awaited affair. But today this seems to be a memory of the past.

Last week at East Stroudsburg Teacher athletic field only four schools—Polk, Chestnuthill, Pocono Twp. and Tobyhanna—raced, barrelled and what have you against each other. Missing were East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg junior highs, Barrett and Coolbaugh.

Some of the bypassing schools cite lack of time to prepare for such an event, while others abide by PIAA Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association physical examination ruling, and still others claim the loss of time from school doesn't balance the worthiness of the event.

On the PIAA regulations we pick no tooths, but on the lack of time for preparation and the loss of school time for participating, we could cite numerous instances that time was found for just as important extra-curricular activities.

This is only a one-day affair event. And, by far, more youths participate in this spectacle than any other single sports event in Monroe County.

It doesn't seem odd that no school in the entire county has a representative track team. But when the same schools toss away their one chance to field a team in the one track field, etc., event of the year, it does seem a right has been wronged.

We hope that next year, the two local schools, Barrett, Coolbaugh, see their way clear to resume activity in the Monroe County Scholastic Field Day. No better one-day recreation for the youth of our area was ever passed along to us by the past. It doesn't deserve to be put away with its founders.

Quick Pickups—Jack Rothenhausler returned to his old stamping grounds Sunday. The former Stroudsburg Poconos outfielder and pitcher took over the right field spot for the Strouds in its Pocono Mountain League losing the game to West End at Gordon Giffels Field.

Jack, a good hitter during the high-flying North Atlantic League days, found PM hurling a little rough in his opening game, going for the collar in four trips.

Jim Dave, the Stroudsburg Main St. grocer, reports that his golf clubs are now starting to talk. Jim, off to a slow start this season, is rounding in top form at Glen Brook Country Club, despite only being able to get in one day of golf a week.

Don Rau, the beverage distributor, had to hustle to get in part of the Barrett Major League Bowling Banquet the other night. However, the Tannersville native who is backer of the Swisher Beer team, was not early enough. He got to the feast just in time to hear the toastmaster close the ceremonies.

Shawnee Ladies Golf Luncheon

SHAWNEE LADIES' Golf Association will inaugurate a new season with a luncheon and informal golf, Friday, at the Shawnee Club rooms. The opening session will be in charge of Mrs. Sal Bourne, president.

A weekly tournament schedule will be drawn and given to the membership at Friday's get-together.

Yankees Blast Boston, 17-8

BOSTON, May 27 (AP)—New York crushed the Red Sox 17-8 tonight with a late-inning deluge that tied the season's high in run production. Bill Skowron, who thrives on Boston pitching, drove in four Yankee runs and hit a home run.

Dodgers Rout Roberts

PHILADELPHIA, May 27 (AP) — Duke Snider and Gino Cimoli homered, each with one on, and that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers all they needed to down the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1, tonight and rout Robin Roberts, who was nicked for his sixth loss against three victories. Dodger sophomore Don Drysdale pitched a two hitter.

Barrett's Rotary And Lions, Pocono Lake Post LL Wins

BARRETT ROTARY romped to its third straight win, and Barrett Lions chalked up its second victory to highlight action in the Pocono Little League last night. Barrett Rotary humbled Tobyhanna, 20-0, while its township counterparts—Lions—blanked Mt. Pocono, 9-0.

In another league duel, Pocono Lake Lions broke into the win column for the first time by defeating Tannersville, 3-1.

Johnny Ryan pitched and batted Barrett Rotary to victory, limiting Tobyhanna to four hits and going three-for-four at the plate. L. Shinnen shared hitting honors with Ryan, with a three-for- four hitting performance, including a homer. Tom May also homered for the league leaders.

Berger, Siglin Star

Jimmy Berger's three-for-four batting attack spearheaded Barrett Lions past Mt. Pocono. Jimmy Siglin hurled the mound masterpiece, holding the visitors to three hits.

Waldo Dyson's two-run homer in the first inning proved the big blow as Pocono Lake downed Tannersville.

Fisher outhurled Reuhlman and Hufford to gain the hill triumph over Tannersville. Reuhlman's was the game's top batsman with two hits.

Gartner Top Local Golfer In State Play

EAST STROUDSBURG High's Gearhart Gartner, District 11 golf champion, posted the top score of five local schoolboys linksmen in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Golf Championships at Penn State College over the weekend.

Gartner's tally, a 171 for 36 holes, however, failed to qualify the Cavalier for the finals as 25 were lower and qualified for finals. Gearhart placed 29th in the field of 50.

Other Scores

Other local linksmen's scores were East Stroudsburg's Roland Gartner, a freshman, 171; Stroudsburg High's Jerry Lambert, a sophomore, 174, and Tom Marsh, also of Stroudsburg, 177.

East Stroudsburg's golf coach James Werkheiser headed and guided the local delegation at Penn State.

Bill Bradford of Bethlehem had the best count of the Lehigh Valley aspirants, a 157, which qualified him for the final. However, he finished far down the field in the runoffs. Emmaus' Larry Carl shot a 176.

Kulp's Grabs Industrial Softball Lead

KULP'S FOUNDRY moved into first place in the Industrial Softball League last night, lambasting Coates Company, 23-8 on the victor's field.

An 11-run first inning proved more than enough for Kulp's. The winners tallied in every frame, but the second, to run up their high figure.

Collects 4 Hits

John Romansky led a 20-hit Kulp attack, with a four-safety outburst. Bob Herr got the big blow for the winners, a homer.

Vets Assume LL Lead In Stroudsburg

DEFENDING champion, Veteran of Foreign Wars, moved out ahead of the field in the Stroudsburg Little League last night by topping Wyckoff-Sears, 7-4, at LL Park. It was the second straight win of the young campaign for the Vets. The loss was W-S's first in two starts.

Despite the 11 runs scored, the contest was a strikeout contest as the loser's Fred Frantz fanned 13 and the victors' Glen Feiler and Glen Bisbing whiffed 11 and six respectively.

Old Pros—Williams, Musial—Pacing Field In Chase For Majors' Hitting Championships

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)— Ted Williams won his first of four American League batting championships 16 years ago. Stan Musial won his first of six National League batting titles 14 years ago.

Today, older, slower, but still effective with the bat, these two again lead their respective leagues as the major league baseball season approaches Memorial Day—the season's initial milestone.

Williams holds a commanding advantage in the American League competition. The Boston Red Sox' star climbed 17 points in last week's games. With a .411 average he's 50 points in front of runner-up Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

Much Closer

The National League race is much closer. Musial, in fifth position a week ago, jumped into the lead on the strength of a 12-point increase to .362. The St. Louis Cards' frst baseman had 11 hits in 21 times at bat.

Dick Groat of Pittsburgh, who suffered a severely sprained ankle in Sunday's game against Philadelphia, is second with .352. He picked up seven points before the injury. Groat is followed by Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, .348, Don Hoak, another Redleg, .347 and Willie Mays of the New York Giants, .346.

The performances of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson emphasizes further the closeness of the race. These two were one-two last week, but Aaron slumped 21 points and Robinson 16 and now they are tied for sixth place at .345.

After Mantle, with .361 in the American League, come Reno Bertoia of Detroit, .352, Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, .344 and Cleveland's Vic Wertz, .330. Wertz also is sidelined with a leg injury. Mantle gained five points, Bertoia dropped 12 and Fox lost 10.

Zernial Gains

Gus Zernial of Kansas City and Mantle, last season's triple crown winner, gained ground in the home run derby headed by Williams, who has 10. Zernial slammed three, Mantle two and both tied Washington's Roy Sievers for second place with nine. Sievers is the AL's runs batted in leader with 31.

Practices Today

WORTHINGTON Mower team of the Babe Ruth League will hold a workout today at the East Stroudsburg playground field, starting at 6 p.m. All team members are urged to report and bring along their equipment.

Musial Sparks Cards

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP)—Veteran Stan Musial, the leading hitter in the National League, unloaded a two-run homer and youngster Lindy McDaniel twirled tight base ball as the St. Louis Cardinals dropped the Chicago Cubs tonight, 6-2.

McHale, Strafaci Gain In England

FORMBY, England, May 27 (AP)—Jimmy McHale and Frank Strafaci played smoothly through the first round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today and Gene Andrews, another slightly elderly golf destroyer, did about as well in the second. But more than half the American delegation was dropped from the running before the long opening day was over.

McHale, a huge Philadelphian who has lost 12 pounds dieting in 12 months, shot the best golf of the opening round as he defeated Murray Vernon Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., 3 and 2, in on of the day's two all-American matches.

Today Strafaci was his opening match by a 4 and 3 margin from A. B. Taylor of Scotland and qualified to meet Ireland's Cecil Beamish, a former British Walker Cup player, in tomorrow's second round.

National Guard Chief Opposes Legislation

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—The head of Pennsylvania's National Guard said today a Republican plan to cancel proposed new armory construction in 1957-59 would hamper the guard's training and recruitment programs.

'By not allowing us to build new armory facilities, the Legislature will force Guard units to hold classes in crammed quarters," said Maj. Gen. Biddle, state adjutant general.

Biddle's comments related to the GOP's rejection of Gov. Leader's request for $1,171,250 to help finance 34 new projects in 32 communities.

The figure, chopped from the Property and Supplies Department's budget, would be the state's share with the federal government in paying for the new facilities. The federal government pays 75 per cent and the state 25 per cent of armory construction expense.

Change In Program Plans

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—ABC Vice President John Daly said today a scheduled appearance by TV interviewer Mike Wallace on the CBS show "What's My Line?" was cancelled at Daly's suggestion.

Wallace's interview with ex-gangster Mickey Cohen May 19 on Wallace's own ABC show has led to threats of libel action by Los Angeles police officials and apologies from Wallace and ABC.

Two Former State Employes Cleared Of Charge

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP)—Two men employed by the state during the Republican administration of Gov. Fine today were cleared of macing charges. Judge Samuel A. Weiss said the state failed to present sufficient evidence at their trail.

The two—Harold Gansel of Berwick and Ross Hill of Apollo—became the seventh and eighth persons cleared of macing charges since 15 were indicted in 1954.

Gansel was director of the Bureau of Inspection in the Dept. of Labor and Industry. Hill was a supervisor of the Pittsburgh office of the same department.

They were accused of forcing other state employes to make a contribution of 1 per cent of their annual income to the 1954 Republican primary election fund.

Disarmament Talks Sends Stock Market Down

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The stock market took its worst slide in 3½ months today, just a week after setting a new 1957 high.

Serious talk of disarmament brought sharp losses to aircrafts. Aluminums reacted sympathetically to the industry they supply so heavily.

Oils, which had been advancing, went to pieces as the market staged a general retreat.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.60 to $182.90 with the industrials down $3.00, the rails down $1.20 and the utilities down 30 cents.

Based on the decline in the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated two billion dollars.

It was the steepest setback since Feb. 11 when the market penetrated the old 1956 support levels sharply in a technical decline that lowered the AP 60-stock average by $3.80.

Of the 1,176 issues traded, declines far outnumbered advances by 690 to 261. New highs and lows for 1957 were even at 42 apiece.

Cleanup Day To Be Held On Saturday At Sand Hill Plots

BUSHKILL—Saturday will be cleanup day at Sand Hill Cemetery.

S. J. Mosier, a trustee, will be in charge of the work. He said anyone willing to help may report to the church at 8 a. m. or later.

The work will include cutting of grass and weeds, removal of trash and other care of the grounds.

Hosier also said anyone who wishes to donate to upkeep of the cemetery may send their contributions to him at Peck's Pond.

The Sand Hill Church will be 104 years old next month. The cemetery dates back a number of years before the church was founded. Land for both the church and cemetery were given to the congregation by the present trustee's grandfather, John Mosier.

Bucknell Swamped With Applications

LEWISBURG, May 27 (AP) — Bucknell University received 2,400 applications for admission into its September freshman class — almost four times the 645 that can be accepted.

Registrar George R. Faint disclosed the figures today and announced that the pressure for admission by girls is so great that no additional applications from women will be accepted for 1958.

East Borough Sailor Aboard USS Chilton

NORFOLK, Va., May 27—Marshall B. Decker ,teleman first class, USN, of 177 King St., East Stroudsburg, Pa., arrived at Norfolk, Va., recently aboard the attack transport USS Chilton after taking part in Carib-Ex, a full scale amphibious landing to test the vulnerability of the Panama Canal Zone defenses.

The assumption of the operation was that aggressor forces had taken over the Fort Sherman and Camp Pima area on the Atlantic side of the zone. An Army company acted as aggressor.

After rehearsal landings at Vieques Island, the Chilton steamed under simulated wartime conditions, of darkened ship and silent radio, to the objective where she conducted a series of demonstration landings before high ranking military and civilian dignitaries from Latin America and the United States.

Throughout the exercise, atomic defense measures, vertical envelopment and troop landing by helicopter were employed.

Clark Urges Formation Of Department

SEN. JOSEPH CLARK yesterday introduced a bill to create a new Department of Urban Affairs as part of the President's cabinet.

Behind the move is a growing feeling on Clark's part that the problems of large metropolitan areas need a centralized, coordinated agency with Presidential power behind it.

Clark points out that "two-thirds of our people now live in major cities and their suburbs."

"Our largest metropolitan area has almost 15 million people and at least a dozen areas—including both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—have more than a million," the senator notes.

"But our national government is still organized for the 'horse and buggy day' and is focused more on agriculture than on city problems," he continues.

"Without reducing the attention we give to rural needs, we ought to give equal attention to the complex urban areas where most people now work and live," the senator maintains.

"To help bring about this new emphasis, I have prepared this bill to create a new department to be called the Department of Urban Affairs with a Secretary who would sit in the cabinet," Clark said.

"This new department would bring together a number of Federal activities of greatest concern to burban centers—slum clearance and urban renewal, housing, aid for such community functions as sewage disposal and Civil Defense," he said.

Does your home help make your neighborhood a better place to live?

Check what you can do to improve both your home and your neighborhood

Neighborhoods change with the times. Your community, like thousands of others, is directly affected by our present expanding economy. As America continues her dynamic growth, you must be prepared for even greater changes to come. You should fully understand the neighborhood consequences of national growth . . . and be fully prepared to meet the challenges it poses to you personally.

You and your neighborhood must plan for the future

All over America, neighborhoods and individuals in communities like yours are planning for tomorrow. They are protecting their own personal and community security by growing with the times . . . by working at home and in groups to solve problems like these:

1. In the next ten years, we must house about 25 million more people.
2. Simultaneously, we must find space for almost 25 million more automobiles.
3. America is already handicapped by 5 million dwellings that are beyond repair, and another 20 million in urgent need of repair.
4. Each year, for approximately $10 billion spent in new housing, blight wipes out almost $5 billion worth of housing . . . we gain only 50¢ for every dollar we spend annually in new construction.

It's important for you and your neighborhood to act now

These immense national pressures affect your neighborhood. Too often a community or its individual citizens fail to act in time. Instead of changing constructively, of growing with the times, an area is forced to grow haphazardly—in a makeshift, dangerously ill-planned fashion.

Act now to strengthen and safeguard your home and neighborhood. Stay alert for signs of creeping blight. Support the local groups that fight substandard housing, that seek better living conditions for all. Most important, help protect and improve your neighborhood by protecting and improving your own property.

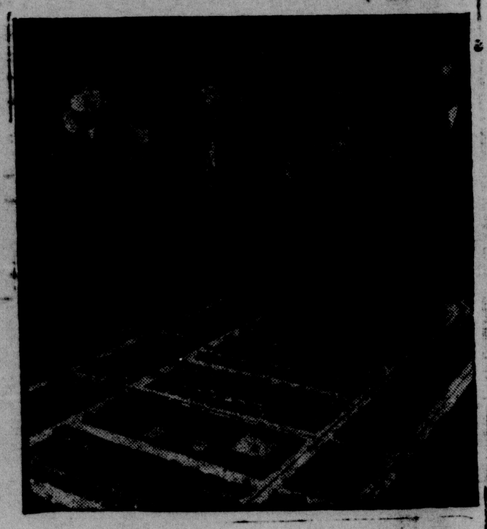
Start right here. The first check-list at right pinpoints common danger spots from which blight breeds and spreads. The second check-list offers you valuable hints on home improvement. Use both to measure the worth of your home to your neighborhood and nation. By taking pride in your own property, by working with your neighbors for the community good, you better everybody's way of life.

Here's how ACTION and many local groups can assist you



ACTION—the American Council To Improve Our Neighborhoods—is a national citizen organization dedicated to home and neighborhood improvement. It has already aided many individuals and groups. It can help you.

Try to get the local facts first. Some of your most valuable local sources for aid and information are listed below.

For local information on your community's improvement program, contact your:

1. Planning Director, Elected Officials, Housing, Redevelopment and Renewal Officials.

For local information on home repair, neighborhood and civic group programs, contact:

2. Business Groups, Realtors, Builders and Building Materials Suppliers.
3. Service Clubs and Civic Affairs Groups.
4. Special Advisory Commissions and Councils.
5. Health and Welfare Agencies.

If you need more advice on a specific home-improvement or group project, write a letter explaining the exact information you need to ACTION. Help is always at hand. Play your part by improving your own home, then interest your neighbors in necessary neighborhood-improvement projects. You can encourage many others by your example.

Job Guides Presented To 400 Seniors

A LABOR market job guide, described by the Pennsylvania State Employment Service as a summary of local job prospects for new workers, is being distributed to 400 seniors in Monroe and Pike County high schools.

"Perplexing questions confront hundreds of high school and college graduates at this time of year concerning their employment prospects," said John P. Dougherty, manager of the East Stroudsburg PSES office.

"Many others who leave school before graduation either temporarily or permanently face the same problem," he added. The job guide is designed to advise young people on the type of job to seek, how to find it, how to apply special aptitudes and the outlook in various fields of work.

Reviewing the local employment situation, the job guide notes that this area "offers a wide variety of manufacturing industries employing approximately 4,200 persons. Normally, not much fluctuation develops in the volume of employment; nevertheless employment opportunities for new workers develop regularly from turnover.

"Printing and machinery manufacturing are the leading manufacturing industries. Three thousand workers are employed in government, mostly at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot.

"But by far and away the largest single group of workers, as may be expected, find a livelihood in trade and service. The service industry, which includes all of the hotels and Summer resorts, employs approximately 2,700 workers throughout the year and more than 8,000 in the Summer."

Limitations are reviewed in the job guide. For example, it points out that "employers generally like to hire alert, industrious, conscientious young graduates, in fact some jobs are restricted to new graduates. The latter is particularly true of jobs where chances for promotion and a favorable long-range outlook carry more weight than high starting pay.

"Job competition will be keen and it is well to remember that you are competing with older, seasoned workers. Employers are selective. Planning and guidance for the most suitable job is most necessary. It is important therefore to understand the limitations inherent in many job opportunities.

"Age is a factor—laws regulate employment of minors. Experience in indispensible to most skilled jobs. Physical condition is important on many unskilled jobs.

"Technical education is a must for practically all professional positions. New workers should not place too high a valuation on their abilities and should not be reluctant to accept beginner's jobs at beginner's pay," the job guide advises the graduates.

The summary concludes with a guide to specific occupations or fields of work, divided as follows: clerical, service, skilled, technical-professional, unskilled, entry and agricultural.

Bond Sales Falter In Monroe County

SAVINGS BOND sales in Monroe County took a dip last month, compared to the corresponding period a year ago.

County Bond Chairman E. H. Wyckoff announced last night that E and H bond sales amounted to $99,756 in Monroe County last month, while $106,331 worth were sold in April, 1956.

During April, more than $33-million worth of series E and H savings bonds were purchased throughout the state. As a result, the state has attained 34 percent, or more than $143-million, towards its $421-million quota for the year.

Leader

Pennsylvania again leads such outstanding industrial states as Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana in percentage of quota attained for 1957.

Charles S. Krumrine, state chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds Division for Pennsylvania, declared that buying savings bonds helps the whole economy as well as that of the individual.

"Today, the United States Savings Bonds program is an integral part of American life in every community in our nation," said Krumrine.

"The new improved 3¼ percent Series E and H Bonds now offered by the Treasury should increase each citizen's awareness that very definitely a part of his savings belong in U. S. savings bonds," he concluded.

Residents Of County Asked To Protest

A NEW STATE program which would reimburse counties for child welfare services will be "wiped out" if "false economy" moves in the State Legislature continue unchecked, the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn. warned yesterday.

Through its regional director, Virginia Vigneron, PCA issued the following statement urging local Monroe County citizens to write letters or telegrams protesting cutbacks in funds for the Department of Welfare.

"We are informed that the bill appropriating funds to the Department of Welfare for the 1957-59 biennium has eliminated entirely the budget item for reimbursement to counties for child welfare personnel and other expenditures for maintenance of children.

"Unless this appropriation (estimated to require $1,675,000 and included in the budget approved by the Governor's office in an amount of $1,000,000) is restored to the appropriation bill, the new program of State reimbursement to counties for child welfare services will be wiped out.

"It is important that you communicate with your representative and Senator at once."

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Influences are more advantageous and inspiring than otherwise. However, be careful in hazardous work, dangerous activities, spending. Personal affairs, new and odd inventions encouraged.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—A grand period in which to improve any plan or procedure; to institute progressive methods, advance your own ideas and work. Keep pace with day's needs, necessary changes. Good rays.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Today, and for the balance of the month, your Mercury will be in excellent position. This is helpful to study, research, advertising, promoting any valuable item or commodity. YOUR day for new gains.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Get as much done as possible today (without strain, however). You may have to slow up some tomorrow to do some checking. Your specific work, business, personal affairs can advance now.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Your influences warn against over-confidence and carelessness. However, you can accomplish a great deal through conscientious attention to your affairs.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Similar to Gemini now. Artistic matters, activities where skill, smart management and originality are essential are encouraged, favored. Be alert to needed improvements; take note of every worthwhile opportunity.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Cozy, comforting influences mark today as one for advancement in sound interests. The day may not be particularly eventful but your affairs are in line for gains, benefits.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mars, in a mildly friendly position, should heighten ambition and give you just enough aggressiveness to put things over. Calm judgment and patience will be great aids, however.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—A highly eventful and result-getting day, if handled intelligently and not too forcefully. Finances, sound investments, long-range plans sponsored. Hard work, artistic matters also favored.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—This day's influences suggest that you do not overreach for favors, gains, advancement. But it is a time for unusual attainment in your daily endeavors and in activities for which you have skill, knowledge.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—If well-disposed to keep a soundly planned schedule, and to be exact and systematic all through the day, you can have fine returns, new advantages and benefits.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Don't try to exceed the limits of your capacity or endurance but do extend yourself to get the most out of this fine day's fresh opportunities, fortuitous chances for attainment. Have faith in YOU!

YOU BORN TODAY are keen, quick of thought and action; full of ambition, original ideas and the urge to be on the go and ready for change. You are very able; are endowed with the capacity for quick learning; have varied talents, and a generous nature. A tendency to switch from one project to another before completing the first should be strongly controlled.

FUN AND PROFIT IN IMPROVING A HOUSE

U.S. Forces Woefully Weak In Korea

SEOUL, May 27 (AP)—U. S. forces in Korea today are woefully weak. Their unmanned battle positions are overgrown with weeds—an invitation to Communist attack.

In contrast, the North Koreans and Red Chinese across the demilitarized zone have built up an army in four years of armistice far more powerful than at any time during the Korean War.

The Communists have new jet planes, new tanks, new artillery and in the opinion of South Korean intelligence officers they may also have atomic weapons. All the weapons in South Korea are either obsolete or obsolescent.

A 10-day inspection by an Associated Press team found alert, seemingly well-trained South Korean soldiers manning 150 miles of the front from well-entrenched positions, although they were equipped with old, World War II weapons.

But a five mile-wide sector, athwart the classic invasion route north of Seoul, is entrusted to an American division only 60 to 80 per cent of normal strength. The South Koreans—criticized during the war for failing to stand and fight alongside Americans — call the American sector the weakest link in the battle line. U. S. field commanders openly express concern.

This is how the opposing sides stack up today:

In the south, there are about 700,000 South Korean troops, about 80,000 Americans including two infantry divisions and logistics and command units, and fewer than 5,000 other United Nations troops, including a British regiment in the process of being withdrawn. This compares with an 800,000-man U. N. army at the end of the Korean fighting in 1953 —but the weapons are old now and have not been replaced because of a ban in the armistice agreement against introduction of new-type equipment.

In the north, according to intelligence reports, the North Koreans have a reorganized and re-equipped 400,000-man army and the Chinese Communists have a 350,000-man garrison. There are also at least a million Red Chinese troops across the Yalu River in Manchuria. The Communist forces in Korea during the war were estimated at more than a million.

The Communists have ignored the ban on new weapons. They have shipped in 1,672 artillery pieces, 340 new tanks in addition to the 480 they already had, 500 jet and 300 propeller - driven planes.

On the Allied side is the knowledge that a fast jet bomber could deliver an atomic bomb from its Okinawa base to a Korean target in under two hours, and the general assumption here is that no holds will be barred if fighting breaks out again.

YMCA Lists Schedule For Summer

THERE WILL BE plenty of things to do at the YMCA this Summer, according to Mrs. Inger Miller, program secretary.

For the younger set, besides the regular schedule, three camps will be held this Summer. Registrations are open for the Day Camp for boys and the Summer Fun Club for girls 8 to 13 years age. Activities for both camps will be held at Saylors Lake, except for special events and trips which are included in each period.

But transportation is provided with special bus service in East Stroudsburg. First period is from June 24 to July 6; second, July 8 to July 19; and third, which is only for boys, July 22-August 3.

For the five, six and seven year olds a "Stay at Home Camp" will begin June 24 and continue for at least four weeks. The program will run Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 2:30.

Most of the activities are at the YMCA building. There will be musical activities, crafts, story telling, swimming instructions, swimming for fun, and outdoor activities. A rest period will be held each day after lunch. A weekly rate of $5 is charged which includes the milk. Lunch is brought from home.

For the adults a Summer membership will be available for three months at $5. This summer a special swimming class for adults will be scheduled.

Tomorrow at 6:45 p.m. a special course in ball-room dancing for teen agers is starting. Mrs. Daisy Longenberger, a graduate of the Arthur Murray School will be director. Mrs. Longenberger has just completed a course for adults. Enrollment will be limited.

The Summer schedule goes into effect June 10. Additional information about YMCA activities may be obtained by calling 832.

Three Escape From Prison

WILLIAMSPORT, May 27 (AP)—Three men escaped from the Lycoming County prison sometime last night or early today by knotting bedsheets into a rope and then scaling the wall.

Prison authorities said the three, whose escape was discovered early today, were Robert Lynch, 20, of Williamsport, serving time for larceny; James Dunn, 19, of Williamsport, held on suspicion of felony, and John Kissell, 19, of Lock Haven, jailed for burglary.

Commission To View Future

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—The State Fish Commission will go into session tomorrow to map possible cutbacks in its services brought on by legislative inaction on a proposed fish license fee boost.

A source close to the commission indicated the agency was prepared to consider the possibility of closing two or three of its nine hatcheries; reduce travel allowances for fish wardens; and pare proposed lake construction.

THE EIGHT Explorer Scouts who were selected to participate in the 1957 Wyckoff High Adventure met Saturday night at Shawnee as guests of E. H. Wyckoff.

It was in the nature of an orientation meeting for the boys and their host, who will leave here June 8 for a canoe trip down the Miramichi River in Canada. They will be gone approximately 10 days.

Trip

Making the trip will be these Explorers: Larry Christian, Troop 93 of Grace Lutheran Church; Henry Schultz, Post 96 of West End Lions Club; John J. Taylor and Herman Taylor, both of Troop 89 of the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club; John Kintz, Jerry Ifft, Roger Monti and Ronnie Gouger, all of Post 87 of theh Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

The Explorers were selected for the trip by a committee of three adult leaders appointed by William E. Schiebei, chairman of the Pocono District. The committee consisted of Jacob Kintz, chairman of camping and activities; Edgar Hall, assistant district commissioner for Explorer roundtables, and Dan Miller, district scout executive.

The selections were based upon the boys' participation and leadership in the scouting program in their home, church, school and community.

'Explorers' Lost For 18 Hours

EASTON, May 27 (AP)—A 42-year-old amateur cave explorer, his son and two of the boy's school pals, were rescued unharmed today about 18 hours after they had lost their way in narrow, twisting passages of an abandoned stone quary.

A state policeman, with searchlight and climbing rope, made his way to the four by tracing their shouts. He led them to safety shortly before midday.

John Pfeiffer, a science writer, his son Tony, 12, and Chris Ingham and Norman Ganter, each 11, huddled through the night in a cramped passage leading from the main grotto a bit beyond the entrance.

Since they had not intended to stay long they had no food and were lightly clothed. They had three flashlights, but by the time trooper John Hahn reached them only one still worked.

By all reports, none suffered any serious effect.

Pfeiffer, who lived in New Hope, Bucks County, about 25 miles from the quarry, said he kept the boys close to him, on the presumption that it was better to await rescue than to risk separation.

He said they tried to sleep but could manage no more than a short spell of uneasy dozing now and then.

"Frankly," he said, "I was scared from the start, but couldn't show it to the boys. They did as much for my morale as I did for theirs.

"Being wise after the event, I shouldn't have gone into the cave, especially with the boys. It was just a darn fool thing to do."

Norman Ganter related: "We didn't know what to do. Chris, Tony and I cried for a while, then we stopped. We knew it wouldn't do any good.

"We were cold. Mr. Pfeiffer took turns holding us to keep us warm. We were pretty wet. The water dripped on us. It got sort of terrible."

The temperature naturally was a good deal lower in the quarry then it was outside. The boys wore shirts and dungarees, Pfeiffer slacks and a sports shirt.

Pfeiffer got permission to explore the quarry from its owner, Mrs. Anna Hart. He and the boys, after unlocking a steel trap door, climbed down 15 feet to the main floor.

When no word came from them late last night, Mrs. Pfeiffer called state police and the search began, made more complicated by the fact that she didn't know exactly where her husband had gone.

A former writer for Newsweek magazine and the Columbia Broadcasting System and author of several books, Pfeiffer was gently reproved by a friend: "I hope you're giving up this hobby now, John."

"That's putting it mildly," Pfeiffer replied.

Adenauer Quizzes Dulles On Agreement

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today quizzed Secretary of State Dulles about the impact any Western disarmament agreement with Russia would have on his country.

The two discussed the disarmament problem during nearly three hours of meeting at the State Department. It was the second Dulles-Adenauer meeting of the day, coming after one dealing with German rearmament, North Atlantic Pact military problems and European integration.

Adenauer said the disarmament conversation was "very frank and very candid" but he declined to give reporters any further information.

He called the disarmament question, especially the "link" between it and Germany's goal of reunification, "an extraordinarily important one" for all Germans.

Dulles was known to be ready in advance of the meeting to assure Adenauer the United States would never agree to any limited disarmament agreement which would have the effect of freezing the present East-West split in Germany.

President Eisenhower was reported to have assured Adenauer at a Sunday conference at his Gettysburg farm that Germany's views would be fully taken into account prior to developing any East-West arms reduction plan.

The State Department said only that the Dulles-Adenauer meeting covered "the related problems of comprehensive disarmament and reunification of Germany."

Responsible officials who sat in on the 80-minute morning session described it as one of the friendliest and most cordial international gathering they have ever witnessed.

A third meeting with Dulles was added to the Chancellor's schedule tomorrow to enable him to finish the seven-point agenda which had been arranged for his three-day stay in the capital.

Stassen Realizes Many Difficult Problems Ahead

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen told the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee today the United States is ready to meet Russia halfway on terms for a partial arms reduction agreemnt.

The United States recognizes there are many difficult points to be thrashed out involving just where the halfway point lies, President Eisenhower's personal disarmament adviser said.

But Stassen declared America is seeking "in a seprogram acceptable to all narious vein" to find a sound tions. He drew a reply from the Soviet representative, who said his country welcomed the manner of the U. S. approach to the disarmament problem.

Expectancy

The five-nation subcommittee met in an air of expectancy after an 11-day recess in which Stassen visited Washington and received a broad new U. S. program bearing the personal endorsement of President Eisenhower.

Stassen did not, however, immediately present details of the new plan to the subcommittee at its session of only 20 minutes. Instead he began a busy round of consultations on its terms with delegates of the other Western nations—Britain, France and Canada.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin said while he does not know what the U. S. plan involves, he welcomed Stassen's assurance of a businesslike approach.

Zorin, who returned last night from Moscow, assured the subcommittee that Russia will act in an equally serious manner.

Informed sources said it may be several days before the U. S. plan is formally submitted for consideration. British, French and Canadian delegates reportedly were assured in today's private meetings that they would be given time to consult their governments in advance.

One high American source described French, British and Canadian reaction to the plan as "good."

Jury Expected To Receive Smith Trial

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Both sides wound up summations today in the murder trial of Edgar Smith, and the case was expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

"I ask, I implore you, and I emphasize that you return a verdict of first degree without a recommendation of mercy," said Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi in his 41-minute summation.

"This killing is still unsolved," said Defense Atty. John E. Selser.

Bergen County Judge Arthur O'Dea will charge the jury when the trial resumes tomorrow. The jury is expected to get the case before noon.

Charge

Smith, 23, an ex-Marine and father of an infant, is accused of killing Victoria Zielinski, 15, Ramsey in a lonely Mahwah gravel pit last March 4.

"This was premeditated, intentional and malicious ... and the intent was murder because the girl had not acquiesced to his desire," Calissi said in contending that Smith chased the girl with a baseball bat, struck her down and then crushed her with rocks.

"The truth of this matter has not been established," said Selser in his summation that lasted an hour and 22 minutes.

Calissi referred to Smith's testimony that he last saw the girl in the company of Donald Hommell and said:

"How could you under God's sun blame this on Hommell? What kind of a vicious mind could a person have to concoct such a story."

He called Smith's testimony about Hommell, a drug clerk who has denied being in the gravel pit, "a fantastic story" and "the dirtiest legal trick" aimed at raising "a doubt in the case."

But Selser said Smith had never accused Hommell, a one-time buddy, of slaying the girl—only of being in her company in the gravel pit while she was battered and bleeding.

Selser pointed at medical testimony that the girl died at midnight, give or take an hour, and said Smith had fully accounted for his actions at that time. Moreover, he said, Smith was in the gravel pit only for a few minutes.

Haiti Returns To Day Of Normal Life

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 27 (AP)—Haiti pulled back from the brink of anarchy today and went back to work under peasant-labor leader Daniel Fignole. He is the third provisional president in the five months since the Maglorie regime.

Store owners patched up bullet holes, erased the scars of fire and reopened their shops after a week-long general strike.

The National Bank of Haiti, closed during the crisis, reopened and put tens of thousands of dollars into circulation in this bullet-scarred, economically strangled capital.

Laughing, shouting thousands swarmed the streets. Farmers once more brought their produce to the capital.

New Day

This was a new day. The people seemed to be over the passions that converted them into a stone-throwing, pillaging and killing mob during the bloody hours of Saturday.

Unofficial sources estimated nearly 100 dead or wounded from the bitter weekend strife between partisans of feuding candidates in the presidential elections scheduled for June 14.

The army finally had a pay day. The government paid the 2,500 officers and men of Haiti's army who less than 48 hours ago were firing at each other in the streets.

Haitians moved back into sacked and burned homes with their salvaged possessions.

Newspapers and radio stations wrecked by the mobs began salvaging equipment from the debris. Some radio stations were back on the air blaring American music.

The coalition of three presidential candidates headed by Fignole and backed by the army appeared to have averted civil war—for the moment, at least.

Cleveland Presents GOP Side Of Budget Slashes

"THE $94,000,000 in budget savings recommended by Republicans merely carry out Governor Leader's 1954 campaign pledges," Assemblyman H. L. Cleveland (R-Monroe) said yesterday in Harrisburg.

"The Governor has had two years to make good on his promise to save $100,000,000 through reorganization of the State Government," said Rep. Cleveland. "We even gave him the reorganization law he wanted, although believing it to be of doubtful constitutionality because he said he needed it to do the job.

It is now more than two years since that law was passed and we have yet to hear of a single dollar that Governor Leader has saved through reorganization of the State Government."

Continuing, the Monroe legislator said: "At the time Governor Leader took office in 1955, the cost of the State Government was slightly more than a billion dollars for two years.

"During his first two years in office, instead of cutting down, Governor Leader increased expenditures until they will total approximately $1,239,000,000 during the present biennium.

"Now he is calling us harsh names because we have refused to accept another $300,000,000 increase in General Fund costs to $1,533,000,000 as he has demanded.

"If we were a rubber-stamp legislature and went along blindly with everything Governor Leader has asked, we would plunge our state into bankruptcy.

"As matters stand, the Commonwealth is very near to it right now with this year's deficit of more than $80,000,000. This must be paid out of next year's taxes, even before we start appropriating money for anything else.

"The budget recommendations made by the Appropriations Committee will balance the general fund budget within the amount of taxes provided by the General Assembly and also pay off the deficit," said Cleveland.

Governor Leader has not indicated in any way what additional tax he would recommend to finance his spendthrift program. We believe that the people will never stand for the new taxes which he is trying to make necessary.

"We might as well make up our minds that the increase in state government costs from $1,239,000,000 to $1,447,000,000, when you include the continuing appropriations still on the books, is as far as we can go in this session.

"If anyone can suggest a fairer way of distributing the available funds than the Appropriations Committee has proposed, we would be glad to get their suggestions, but the overall amount cannot be changed unless you pass new taxes and nobody has yet come forward with any suggestions on that.

"Those who come to Harrisburg seeking increased appropriations for their pet projects should come with the request for more money in one hand—and a new tax program in the other," Cleveland declared.

Shooting Marks Labor Trouble

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala., May 27 (AP)—Labor troubles at a construction project flamed into wholesale gunfire today with two men killed, another seriously wounded and at least five more hurt.

The usual quiet of this lake resort town on the Tennessee River was broken about 7 a.m. when five cars drove up to a barricade at the gate of the feed plant being built by Gulf States Construction Co., Atlanta, for the Cotton Producers Assn.

Recognition

Some of the construction workers struck May 20, seeking recognition of the United Mine Workers, Dist. 50, as bargaining agent for the work crew. Others crossed picket lines and continued work.

A moment after the cars drove up today, shooting with rifles, pistols and shotguns began. Sheriff L. P. Dickson said firearms were in the hands of both the pickets and those planning to work.

The two dead were John Leroy Ward, 22, of Parsons, Kan., who had continued at work, and the Rev. William Clinton Harrison, 22, an itinerant minister who was on the picket line.

Drive To Restore Budget Cuts Underway

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — A bipartisan drive to restore 300 million dollars or more to President Eisenhower's sharply pruned defense budget got under way in the House today.

The House Appropriations Committee has cut 2½ billion dollars out of the President's requests for the Army, Navy and Air Force in the next fiscal year. Eisenhower has asked for restoration of almost half this amount.

Meeting just before the House convened today, the 30-member there agreed almost unanimously to try to put about 300 million back in the bill.

A group of Democrats quickly lent their support to the move, leading some members to predict that as much as 500 million might be restored when voting on amendments starts tomorrow.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee and other Democrats said they thought the appropriations group had cut too deeply.

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla), head of an appropriations subcommittee which handles the Army's budget requests, told the House "The services say they are badly hurt by the reductions.

"In some instances I think they are," he said. "In other instances I do not agree. I do think this is the tightest military budget in years."

"The bill has been too drastically cut in many instances," Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House GOP leader, told newsmen.

Martin said he expected most Republicans to support the amendments in the voting this week but that some Democratic help would be needed.

Graham Speaks To 16,500

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Look in God's mirror, Billy Graham suggested tonight, and here's what you'll see: "A lawbreaker."

The looking glass that Graham held up for 16,500 people consisted of the 10 Commandments.

Eisenhower Signs Legislation Carrying Post Office Grant

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed a bill carrying $3,192,000,000 for the Post Office Department, but said this was not enough to maintain service without substantial cuts.

Accordingly, he said, he will be back shortly with a request that Congress supplement the sum, which is for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said he wants the people "to continue to receive the postal service to which they are entitled."

Postmaster General Summerfield said the request will be for another 140 million dollars. Congress, now in an economy mood, ut Summerfield's previous request by 58 million.

Summerfield and his civilian advisory board met with Eisenhower just before the President issued his statement.

The board, which includes business, industrial and labor leaders, said five retrenchment steps will be needed if the post office is not voted more money by July 1:

1. Reducing the days of delivering mail. Summerfield said this probably would mean the elimination of all Saturday deliveries.

2. "Closing hundreds if not thousands of post offices."

3. "Arbitrarily reducing the volume and possibly the types of mail handled."

4. "Cutting back the long-overdue modernization of many obsolete facilities."

5. "Foregoing the mechanization needed to handle increasing mail volume."

Under Point 3, President Rowland Jones Jr. of the American Retail Federation said that if volume is reduced "it seems clear" that third class mail—largely advertising matter—will bear the brunt. Jones is a member of Summerfield's board.

Eisenhower backed Summerfield and his board's position in these words:

"It is clear, in view of the rising volume of mail, that the appropriation for the Post Office Department will be insufficient unless postal services are to be substantially curtailed beginning July 1, 1957."

The board said Congress has cut the Post Office Department budget to a point where it "will have less money next year than it has for this year—and yet it must deliver approximately 2½ billion more pieces of mail."

China Keeps Tight Rein On Taipei

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 27 (AP)—Nationalist China kept a tight military rein on Taipei and four other Formosan cities tonight as it sought to heal the wounds of last Friday's anti-American rioting.

Americans in the Formosan capital were cautious. U.S. commissary and post exchanges reopened but the usual Monday morning crowds did not appear. Vice Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, expressed hope American military personnel "will have the sightseeing trips.

Foreign Minister George Yeh told a news conference martial law would remain in force in Taipei, Taichung, Tainan, Chiai and the port city of Kaohsiung until the Nationalist government is convinced danger of new rioting is definitely over.

Yeh stressed that the Nationalist governments wants to maintain close and friendly relations with the United States, which has poured millions of dollars into Formosa.

Rules Set For TV Battle

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Television came up with a solution today for its money-heavy "battle of the bones."

The sponsor and the producer—with the contestants concurring—set rules for annulling last week's disputes answers to a medical question on the quiz show "Twenty-One."

Rematch

The rematch between Hank Bloomgarden and Jim Snodgrass will take place on the NBC network at 9 p.m. June 3. (The program's usual air spot is taken over tonight for a special magic show.)

Under the special rules, the two will again be trying for $3,500 per point, starting with a base of $52,500, and Bloomgarden will be guaranteed that $52,500 should he lose to Snodgrass.

Government Drops Case Against Dio

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The Federal government, as expected, today dropped for the present its case against racketeer Johnny Dio in the acid blinding of columnist Victor Riesel. The two key prosecution witnesses had refused to testify.

The case was taken off the court calendar and continued indefinitely. That means it was not actually dismissed; it could be reopened should it be strengthened in future.

Balky Witnesses

U. S. Atty. Paul Williams claimed underworld threats scared two imprisoned hoodlums into backing out as potential witnesses against Dio and three codefendants, Charles Tuso, Teddy Kskinny) Rij, and Charles (Woppy) Carlino.

The balky witnesses, who admitted a part in the attack on Riesel, were Gondolfo (Shiekie) Miranti, 57, and Domenico (Nick) Bando, 47. They took another five years apiece in prison rather than testify against Dio, the alleged mastermind in Riesel's blinding outside Lindy's Broadway Restaurant April 5, 1956.

Supreme Court Ends All Hopes

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The Supreme Court today snuffed out hopes of income tax evaders, including gambler Frank Costello of New York, for shorter prison terms. By a 7-2 vote, the court ruled that tax evaders must be tried and sentenced under a provision of the internal revenue code calling for penalties of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The meeting was called by Federal Mediator William Rose in an effort to negotiate a new pact before the old contract runs out midnight Friday. The union has voted no contract, no work after that time.

No Changes Announced In Final Official Election Count

Warner Wins Mention Under Several Titles

By Paul Carlson

ATTY. RUSSELL L. Mervine's plurality for the Democratic nomination for judge was officially set at 1,557 by the Monroe County Board of Election yesterday.

As the board completed its check of the county totals, it became apparent they generally coincided with the unofficial figures published by The Daily Record the day following the primaries.

It also became apparent that Daniel G. Warner, Stroudsburg funeral director, piled up the most impressive number of votes.

Not only did Warner win his bid for the Democratic nod for coroner, but he also captured an unsolicited Republican nomination for that office, and received write-ins for county treasurer and jury commissioner.

In the Democratic primary, Mervine received 3,517 votes for judge of the 43rd judicial district, compared to 1,960 ballots cast for his rival, incumbent Judge Fred W. Davis. However, Davis won the GOP nod with 2,678 votes.

Mervine also received 10 write-in votes on the GOP ticket, and a single write-in for the judgeship was cast for Robert Harvey.

J. Nelson Westbrook won the Democratic nomination for county treasurer by a 577-vote edge over his nearest opponent, Claude Metzgar. Westbrook received 2,738, Metzgar, 2,161, and Dr. William Andrew, 282.

Unopposed

The unopposed Republican treasurer nominee, Donald V. Dimmick, received 2,306 votes. However, write-in ballots were cast for Westbrook, two for Metzgar, and one each for Daniel G. Warner, and "Westbrook."

Warner beat Dr. Perry Stearns by a 1,969-vote edge to capture the Democratic nomination for coroner. Warner's total was 3,353, compared to 1,384 for his opponent. One write-in was cast for "Perry Stern," "Dan Warner," and Edward Meixell.

Warner also won the GOP nod by piling up 107 write-ins. Seventy-three were cast for his rival under the correct ballot title.

Write-ins galore were also cast for the coroner post. Here's a rundown on the GOP vote: Dr. Stearns, 3; L. Everett, 1; D. Warner, 2; Stearns, 3; Daniel Warner, 6; Warner, 1; Rushmore C., 1; P. Stearns, 1, and Danny Warner, 1.

Harry T. Hamblin won the Democratic nomination for jury commissioner by piling up 2,022 votes, compared to 1,391 for Harry F. Miller, and 928 for Clinton C. Frantz.

The GOP nod for jury commissioner went to Clair M. Learn with 2,362 votes. The following write-ins also were cast: Daniel G. Warner, 1; H. E. Miller, 1; Harry Hamblin, 5; Harry F. Miller, 4; H. F. Miller, 1, and C. C. Frantz, 1.

Edward Hess won the Democratic nod for county surveyor with 14 votes. One write-in was cast for both "Hess," and "G. Kempter." Guyton Kempter won the GOP nomination for this post with 1,922 ballots. Single write-ins were cast for Woodrow Keenholt and Douglas Kitson.

GREAT DAY FOR GRAY LADIES came yesterday when East Stroudsburg Exchange Club presented its annual Golden Deeds Award to this little-publicized group of women who donate their time on a regular work-week basis to hospital patients. Taking part in presentation were: Mrs. Frank W. Reusswig, Mrs. Charles Mott, Gray Ladies Service chairman, Mrs. Harold Ingraham, who represented the service and who received citation from Horace G. Walters, award committee chairman. Looking on in background is Gilbert Dunning, club president. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Gray Ladies Honored By Golden Deeds Award

By Leonard Randolph

FEW MONROE County volunteer workers are more familiar to residents than the efficient, gentle-mannered women who have become a part of General Hospital routine.

Last nights Exchange Club of East Stroudsburg presented its ninth annual Golden Deeds award to The Gray Lady Service of the Monroe County Chapter, American Red Cross.

At a banquet meeting held at Mountain Lake House, Marshalls Creek, the club presented a citation of honor to Mrs. Charles Mott, chairman of the Gray Lady Service.

Mrs. Mott accepted the honor "very humbly . . . for all the Gray Ladies in our service." The audience gave the chairman and the women in the voluntary service a standing ovation when Mrs. Mott's brief speech of acceptence was over.

Making the actual presentation of the citation and reading the entry which the club places in its "Golden Deeds Book" was Horace G. Walters, chairman of the club's award committee. Serving with him on that committee were: James S. Bunnell, Ralph O. Burrows, Raymond O. Mansfield, and W. Adolph Rake.

There were testimonials to the Gray Ladies by three men who represent groups with which they work closely.

The first of these was Frank S. LaBar, chairman of the board of General Hospital of Monroe County. LaBar traced the origin of Gray Lady services to World War One at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Gray Ladies first made their appearance at the local hospital in July of 1950, he said "and since then they have contributed a total of more than 30,000 hours of service to the hospital, its staff and its patients." Figured in estimated cost value, LaBar said that this would mean a donation of "at least $50,000" to the hospital and the community.

"All hospitals are harassed by a lack of adequate nursing services, and we are no exception," LaBar said. "Without the Gray Ladies we would be able to offer only a much more limited service than we now have. These women give the patients what they need to get better, quicker."

"But the service the Gray Ladies give should not ever be confused with the nurses duties in the hospital," he said. "They voluntarily fill many jobs. They are receptionists, they distribute flowers to patients in their rooms (and we get 100 bouquets of flowers on a normal day), they deliver patients' mail to them, they run errands for them, they read to them, write letters for them, they feed children and those who are not able to feed themselves because of injuries, they deliver newspapers promptly to rooms each day."

The next speaker, Dr. Evan Reese, a member of the hospital staff, spoke for the staff and Monroe County Medical Society which gave its Benjamin Rush award to the Gray Ladies in 1954.

Dr. Reese stressed the great importance of the added psychological conditioning given by Gray Ladies to patients in their fight to regain health. He further emphasized the faithful service given by the women to the Red Cross Bloodmobile during each of its monthly stops in the county.

Charles R. Bensinger, immediate past president of the county Red Cross chapter, praised the women for their part in the blood donor program and their work following the August, 1955 flood.

Other speakers included George Desh, governor of District Four, Exchange; Gilbert Dunning, club president; Dr. W. G. Moore, toastmaster and Frank B. Michaels, who gave the invocation and benediction and who was a previous Golden Deeds award winner in 1954. Other winners present were: Dr. Nina Mae Price (1953), Thomas Lincoln Waring (1955) and Russell Cramer (1956).

Delegates from Kiwanis, Business and Professional Women's Club, Soroptimist Club, Lions and Rotary Clubs attended the dinner to add their endorsement and commendation to the Exchange Club for its choice in making the 1957 award.

Leader Warns On Possibility Of Changes

UNIVERSITY PARK, May 27 (AP) —Gov. Leader tonight warned that unless Republican House leaders abandon their budget cutting plans the state may be forced to cut back some flood control projects.

"Unless the legislature can be persuaded to abandon this short-sighted point of view budget cutting, the Department of Forests and Waters may be forced to cut back a number of highly important flood control projects," Leader said.

The governor in an address at the golden anniversary dinner of professional forestry education in Pennsylvania, said administration plans called for location of a state recreation area within 25 miles of every Pennsylvanian.

Unfortunately

"Unfortunately, the Legislature has decreed otherwise," he said.

"Just last week it slashed the department's budget drastically—to the extent that the new park program must be abandoned."

He also said the revenues from oil and gas leases would have to be used to make up deficiencies in other programs of the department. This money normally is used for building recreation park areas.

Stroud Union School Board Uses Two Votes To Officially Adopt Budget Of $898,240

STROUD UNION School Board adopted its anticipated $898,240 budget last night.

Board members set millage rates at 55 mills per thousand dollars of assessed value and passed two $5 per capita taxes.

It required two votes to give the budget final approval. It was first defeated by a 5-2 vote with only seven members present.

A short while later the two members who first voted against the budget reversed themselves and went along with the majority.

On the first motion for approval and final adoption of the budget the voting breakdown was as follows:

Favoring adoption: J. L. Cohen, Herbert Crane, Loring Cramer, Samuel Everitt, John Schimmel.

Against adoption: Russell Lesoine and Fred Shoemaker.

Discussion of the budget's various categories was begun after this vote, according to board secretary Herbert Crane. Two more board members arrived in the interim.

They were Harold Akers and Mrs. Helen Carlton. A second motion was made. Those in favor of adoption that time were: Akers, Carlton, Cohen, Cramer, Crane, Everitt, Lesoine, Schimmel and Shoemaker or all nine members present.

On advice of solicitor the board then brought up a motion for approval of the required millage rate, 55 mills in the voting on this motion, eight members voted for it and Lesoine was recorded as opposed to the millage rate. This motion also included approval of one of the two $5 per capita taxes.

A second motion was required for the second per capita tax. This is levied under Act 481 or "The Tax Anything Act" which must have separate board approval each time it is used on a year-to-year basis. All nine members approved this form of taxation.

When the budget was "tentatively received" at the April 24 meeting of the board, officials said they anticipate collection of $376,000 through property taxation and $32,000 each from the per capita taxes.

The tentative budget showed expenditures had increased in all areas of school costs requirements. Expenditures listed in the budget follow:

General control — $24,840; Auxiliary agencies— $38,150; Operation of the school plant — $71,900; Maintenance of school plant — $24,560; Fixed charges — $56,000; Debt service — $125,000; Capital outlay — $15,000.

Administrative expenses include these estimates:

Secretary's office salaries—$2,950 and $150 for supplies; treasurer—$600 salary and $450 bond; tax collectors—$6,700 salaries, commissions and bonds; auditors—$340; legal service—$600; census enumeration—$600.

Superintendent of schools—$10,000 salary for the superintendent; $1,750 for clerks' salary and $200 for supplies. Principals offices—$29,200 for salaries; $10,500 clerks' salaries; $200 for supplies and $500 miscellany; $14,000 textbook costs; $29,450 instruction supplies; $2,250 for teachers' institutes and $5,000 for tuition to other districts.

The major portion of the budget—an estimated 51 percent of the total—goes for the cost of teachers salaries. That total is listed in the budget as $450,000. Instruction costs in the school district are up $106,800 over the 1956-57 budget.

Plant Fund Should Be Granted

A bit of news that indicates Pennsylvania is on the way back, industrially speaking, comes from the Philadelphia Federal Reserve District.

Manufacturers in the Philadelphia metropolitan area plan to spend more than 400 million dollars in plant expansions this year, according to a Federal Reserve Bank survey of capital expenditures. This is 20 per cent more than they spent in 1956.

While the survey covers only eight counties in the Philadelphia, including three in New Jersey, there are indications the trend may be reflected elsewhere in Pennsylvania. Reports from other sections also tell of plant expansions.

Slowly, the industrial mood is changing from gloom to optimism. Confidence in the future is reflected in employment figures, which are higher than forecast months ago. Proposed plant expansions are widely diversified and not a phenomenon limited to any group of industries.

Pensylvania, it appears, is making progress in its efforts to hold industry and to encourage new ones to move into the state. We're making a start at halting, and reversing, the erosion of our industrial strength.

The heavy state taxes on industry are due to be lifted slightly next year, and there is a good chance of repeal of several nuisance taxes that don't bring in much revenue but give Pennsylvania a bad name.

We've embarked on a state program of finding new industry and helping it get established here. The General Assembly has an obligation in this endeavor in that it should create a favorable tax climate for industry. It can also give a full measure of financial aid to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Administration.

We'd like to see the Legislature grant Gov. George M. Leader's request for five million dollars to keep the industrial development program going for another two years. Any cuts in that amount would be foolish economy.

Authorities By-Pass Constit ution To Do Job

It might surprise some people to know there are more municipal authorities than there are boroughs in Pennsylvania.

And, according to the Department of Internal Affairs, these 1,158 authorities have incurred a bonded indebtedness in excess of 940 million dollars.

That's the point at which they by-pass the State Constitution. A restriction in the Constitution limits state debt and another limits political subdivisions to a fixed percentage of assessed valuation.

Here is how it works: Officials of a city, school district, borough or township may incur indebtedness through bond issues without consent of the people up to two per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property.

With consent of the people, usually obtained by referendum, bonds can be issued up to seven per cent of assessed valuation. But these are the definite limits set by the State Constitution.

They are circumvented, however, by financing through authorities, because the bonds of authorities are not obligations incurred directly by the political subdivisions.

Nevertheless, the net result is the same. The debt has to be paid ultimately by the people — which explains why close attention should be given the operations of these 1,158 authorities by the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

It is to be said for the great majority of authorities established in Monroe County and elsewhere in Pennsylvania since 1935 that they have commanded the unsalaried services of capable private citizens; have been operated carefully, and have performed essential functions in their communities.

George Sokolsky Says...

Hugh Baillie Suggested To Make Inquiry Into United States Information Agency

I come back to the same question all the time because it is the one question that the politicians dodge. It is the question: How much can we afford to spend?

Only the Treasury can answer the question rationally. The President has answered it sentimentally and his point is that peace is cheaper than war no matter what peace costs. This, in the 19th Century, would have been wholly true. In the 20th Century, it is not so true because Soviet Russia, our permanent enemy, uses peace as a weapon of war.

This, then, raises many complex questions, among them, the question, why cannot we employ peace as an instrument of war as the Russians have? The fact is that we cannot. We have failed whenever we have tried, except perhaps in Turkey.

Surely Formosa cannot understand a policy that blows hot and cold, and even Spain is astonished at a friendship which is so beautiful in the making and so slow in its implementation. What would we do if West Germany went into East Germany or if rebellions started again in Poland and Hungary?

The Russians speak to the masses and promise heaven on earth and somehow what they say sounds reasonable although everybody knows that heaven stays in heaven and the earth stays on earth.

When to the intangible mysteries of Marxism, Soviet Russia adds Polish tanks and Czechoslovakian airplanes, as was done in Egypt and Syria, the effect is most violently anti-American although we have been spending tens of billions of dollars to make ourselves beloved as the givers of tanks and the purveyors of planes and even of bombs. Why we fail to make lasting friends is a mystery that requires not so much political as psychoanalytical research.

It must be admitted that we have been good to the British, helping them in two wars and lending and giving them money in between wars in enormous quantities.

But we did make quite a to-do about Indian independence starting way back after World War I and continuing right through to this very day. So we destroyed the British Empire and no matter what a gentle face anyone wants to put upon it, the fact is that the British Empire is destroyed and that no euphemism called the Commonwealth of Nations is the same thing.

The last job we did was in Egypt where the United States backed the upstart Nassar against Great Britain and so completely routed the British that the Eden government fell humiliated. Eden is sick, of course, but he was sick before Cairo; he could not sustain himself after Cairo.

The cold fact is that this country let down its closest friend and ally and has not gained the friendship of the country it aided, namely, Egypt which has remained a satellite of Soviet Russia.

This is an example of the sort of failure we encounter. And that brings us to the United States Information Agency which is in the budget for a big chunk of money, although it never seems to be much good for the purpose for which it was created, namely, to do propaganda favorable to the United States which will win us friends.

The enterprise has been managed by a university president, a radio network operator and now by a law school dean who is an amateur musician. No matter who runs this expensive agency, it has regularly proved to be a dud.

Instead of complaining about all the money the USIA costs, Congress ought to inquire as to why it is a dud. Senator Joe McCarthy tried to do it. He encountered White House resistance over this agency. He never got very far, although he probed deeply. He did not get far, because the White House ran interference for the agency.

Today, Congress investigates the question of expenditures, but that is really missing the point. If the agency does the job it needs to do, the expense is not great. What Congress ought to do is to inquire what it gets for the dollar spent.

Then, if the money is wasted on futile jobs for lazy men and women who prefer to live abroad, the whole thing should be abolished and a start made all over again. I recommend a hard-boiled, tough-minded former president of the United Press, Hugh Baillie, as suitable for such a job.

Tragedy Gave Her Talent A Chance

By Anne Heywood

Murder will out, as the old saying goes, but I'm beginning to believe that talent will, too. You can keep it hidden, or fail to use it—or, in some cases, just plain not know you have it—but eventually, it does come out.

I thought of that the other day when I was visiting a friend for the weekend.

We went to church on Sunday and, after services, joined the congregation for coffee and cakes in the fellowship hall downstairs.

Several ladies carried the refreshments around on big trays, the prettiest you ever saw.

Charming Designs

They were oblong, about the size of those ordinary ugly tin trays you usually see at such large functions or in big cafeterias. But these were beautiful. They were painted in dark colors and had charming designs.

Naturally, I asked about them and heard an interesting story.

They were decorated by one of the church members, Mrs. F., a widow who had been left with a very small income.

"It was really very sad," my friend told me, "because she and her husband were very close. They never had any children.

"He was a teacher, so she devoted her time to helping him with his papers, and with a textbook he had written. They were together so much that his death was a terrible loss. It was months before she went anywhere.

"We tried to get her interested in something. Finally she volunteered to help with the monthly church suppers.

Huge Affairs

"They're huge affairs, and we always need people to help serve refreshments. So she agreed.

"She was always very nice, but she was very shy. It was an effort for her to mix with the people and pass the rolls and coffee, but she persisted.

"One day," my friend concluded, "Mrs. F. called and asked me—she and I were always pretty friendly—if I thought it was alright for her to decorate the trays a little. She said they were so ugly that something should be done about them. I said I was sure the church would love it, but I remember wondering how in the world she planned to do it.

The Trays She Decorated Were Beautiful

"She had read up on this subject, so she did a beautiful job on the trays. They were so lovely, in fact, that we all ordered some from her. And now the gift shop in town carries them, too.

Special Orders

"She'll make them to order in special designs — you know, a sketch of your pet dog, your house or a silhouette of a child.

"We were all so pleased and surprised — but, to tell you the truth, Mrs. F. was more surprised at her talent than we were."

Most of us have some hidden ability, just waiting to be evoked. If you don't know what yours is, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper, and I'll send you Pointers to Finding Your Basic Interest.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Samuel Hopkins Adams, doing research for a book, spent some days at Niagara Falls, in the course of which he made the acquaintance of Mike Halbouty, Texas oil geologist.

"Look at those falls," marveled Adams. "You'll have to admit you have nothing like that in Texas!" "No, we haven't," granted Halbouty, "but, by golly, we've got a plumber in Houston who could stop that leak in 15 minutes!"

Are you quite certain, Mrs. Jones," the doctor asked, "that your husband whistles constantly through his teeth when he sleeps?"

"Am I certain!" echoed Mrs. Jones angrily. "Why, this morning when he woke up there were a dozen dogs jumping on his chest."

U. S. Snagged In Efforts To Modernize Korean Units

Washington, May 27 — Two snags are behind all that backing and filling over whether to send nuclear weapons and guided missiles to U. S. forces in Korea.

But only one of these hitches directly involves the arms question. The other has no relation to it, and is primarily a "trading point." Following is what these far-reaching backstage disputes are about:

Demand by Britain, France, Canada and other UN nations with troops still stationed in South Korea that they be consulted before the U. S. employs nuclear and "push-button" weapons there.

In exchange for agreeing to the U. S. equipping its forces with such armaments, the allies be allowed to further expand their trade with Red China.

Closed-door discussions over more relaxing of the embargo list against China are now underway in Paris. This is the third such revision since 1955.

The U. S. is adamantly opposed to selling any strategic supplies to the Reds. But while barring that from this country, Secretary Dulles has agreed to a number of exceptions sought by the allies. In the current negotiations on that, he is insisting they have no connection with providing U. S. forces with atomic and other modern weapons.

Britain and France do not dispute that. They concur the two problems are separate, and should be handled separately.

But at the same time they are pressing both issues simultaneously.

In effect, Britain, France and other allies are dragging their feet on what the U. S. proposes to do about modernizing armaments in Korea, while urging the U. S. to accede to increased trade with Communist China.

Ostensibly the two are unrelated. But the U. S. to get what it wants, clearly will have to give in to its allies on what they want.

Grave Peril—The allies hold two trump cards to back up their demands.

One of these potent "persuaders" is the requirement that the 16 UN nations, which resisted the Communist aggression in South Korea, must agree among themselves on major military changes there. This is a main provision of their historic "Declaration of July 27, 1953," following the armistice agreement.

This Declaration is the basis of the stand by Britain, France, Canada and other allies that they be consulted before the U. S. uses atomic weapons and guided missiles in Korea, should fighting break out there again.

The allies' other trump card is the steadily worsening military situation in that war-shattered land.

That is why the U. S. is so urgently anxious to strengthen UN forces there.

The speediest and most effective way to do that is with nuclear weapons and guided missiles—such as the MATADOR with a range up to 500 miles, and 280mm atomic cannon now on nearby Okinawa.

The need for such bulwarking is due to the grim fact that the Communists now have heavy superiority in both numbers and fire power.

Following are the major components of their forces in North Korea: Combined Chinese and North Korean troop strength of more than 900,000; estimated 750 Russian jet fighters and bombers; several hundred tanks, and scores of rocket positions.

All these Red weapons are in direct violation of the cease-fire agreement. It explicitly bars the introduction of new armaments in Korea.

Against this massive Communist strength the UN allies have: Combined total of around 600,000 troops, the bulk of them ROKs; less than 300 jet combat planes; and no "push-button" weapons.

The U. S. now has only two divisions in Korea. Other UN forces still there are Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, France, Colombia, Turkey, Thailand.

Twice before the U. S. has proposed modernizing armaments in Korea. Both were blocked by the allies, chiefly Britain and France. Despite the Communists' known extensive violations of the armistice pact, the allies insisted on its meticulous observance of the UN powers.

But they now appear to be willing to give ground—in exchange for being allowed to sell more goods to the Reds.

Flashes—This is the week for the Air Force's long-awaited test of its intercontinental ballistic missile ATLAS. The fateful trial of this ICBM is slated to take place in the next few days. It will be at Patrick Airbase, Cape Canaveral, Fla., and if all goes well the prototype should soar upwards of 700 miles and fly approximately 2,000 miles into the Atlantic. The ATLAS has an estimated range of 5,000 miles, but this test is being limited to less than half that distance. . . . Mrs. Joseph McCarthy will receive a $292 monthly pension under the contributory pension system Congress has for its members and employees. These monthly payments will be in addition to the $22,500 voted Mrs. McCarthy as the widow of a senator. That is the traditional practice of Congress, to vote a year's pay to wives of members who die in office.

Big Events On Agenda This Week

By Jim Riley

Monroe County will be the center of the stage for two outstanding performances this week, one at Pocono Manor and the other at East Stroudsburg.

The East Stroudsburg attraction is the appearance of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians at the college tomorrow, with all proceeds going to the Monroe County YMCA.

At Pocono Manor on Thursday, some of the top golfers in the country will take part in an exhibition. The list includes Jack Cuttle, Art Wall, Arnold Palmer and "Brud" Brown.

All proceeds of the golfing event, as was the case last year, will go to the Heart Fund and Cancer Assn.

If the crowd matches that of last September both organizations will make a good haul.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

Dear Editor:

Memorial Day, 1957 is a day in memory of those who have passed on, a day the Flag has been placed on the graves of those veterans who wore the uniform in defense of their country in time of war.

The flag honors all. The marker in which the Flag is placed on the grave represents each war and all of the people in each conflict.

The Flag also honors the living and is the symbol of the freedom this country has given them.

Jefferson fought for the government of the people, by the people and for the people and for religious freedom. At the same time he worked hard to give the people a Bill of Rights to protect this government and themselves.

Use your rightful way, no one can use it for you. If you don't, some outfit will come along and want to sell us a one-world form of government.

There are three things we all should have in our homes: Ten Commandments, Bill of Rights and Americanism. Americanism is an unfailing love of country, loyalty to its institutions and ideals, eagerness to defend it against all enemies, undivided allegiance to the Flag and a desire to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and posterity.

In Stroudsburg Cemetery, you will see the markers on the graves of all our war veterans. There is the grave of one who helped throw the tea overboard in Boston Harbor, then joined the Revolutionary Army and fought through the war, was wounded and settled down in the West End of Monroe County.

On the grave of Captain Richard Staples are the Revolutionary marker and the Stars and Stripes. Some of our older people only go back to this man's great, great grandfather.

Life is like the bud of a flower that blooms, lives a while and dies. Our government is like the root of the plant of the stalk that lives and blooms again in a new generation. It's the memory I bring you, not these few words of my own convictions.

I'm a member of the Graves Committee of Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars. I write this in honor and memory of our departed committee chairman, Howard Mount, and those committee members who have passed on.

In 1944, the Sons of Union Veterans turned their assignment of placing the flags on the veterans' graves over to the VFW. And Howard Mount, who was appointed chairman of the Graves Committee, organized his workers throughout the county.

The chairman held his appointment 12 years until his death. His duties included placing the flags on graves, keeping the records of veterans, helping the sick gain entrance to hospitals, seeing that he got there, visiting the sick, and performing many other duties as service officer of the post and chairman of the Joint Memorial Committee for several years.

The men of his Graves Committee are carrying out their assignments and giving their highest honor to their chairman.

Two Plymouth People Hurt In Accident

DELAWARE WATER GAP—A Luzerne County couple was injured late Sunday night while trying to avoid a drunk who was walking aimlessly on Foxtown Hill.

Stroudsburg State Police said Mrs. Hazel Rosser, 39, of Plymouth, was in satisfactory condition at General Hospital last night. She suffered contusions and a possible chest injury.

Discharged

Her husband, William Rosser, Jr., 42, operator of the car, received lesser injuries and was discharged after treatment, troopers said.

The Rosser's car was completely demolished about midnight when they tried to avoid hitting the unidentified drunk, State Police said. The auto swerved across the highway and overturned.

Troopers were unable to locate the drunk.

Woman Rescued From Boat Drifting In Delaware River

JACK COURTNEY, superintendent of services at Shawnee Inn, took an unexpected boat trip.

He paddled onto the Delaware River about 9:30 a.m. to retrieve a boat that was drifting downstream with a woman in it.

The woman, Mrs. Sophie Frank of New York, and a number of other people who are attending American Spice and Trade Assn. convention, had gone to the river to participate in boat races.

Mrs. Frank was reported inexperienced in rowing and soon found her boat drifting away from the others in her party.

Courtney, who was on the river bank, saw the woman's plight, and with the help of other spectators launched a canoe.

Mrs. Frank was taken to her room, where a physician treated her for slight shock.

Bangor Council Agrees To Share Expense

BANGOR—Borough Council last night agreed to pay one-third of the cost of establishing police protection from the Northampton County sheriff's office at the strike-bound Blue Ridge Textile Co.

It is understood that the firm and the union will share the remainder of the cost.

Atty. James Pritchard, acting borough solicitor, was authorized by council to secure the signatures of both sides and management to this contract.

Authority

Council retained the authority to terminate this protection when it is of the opinion it no longer is needed. It will only go into effect if all parties sign the pact.

Chief Burgess Hayden B. Pritchard was empowered to make arrangements with Sheriff William Hontz to provide two deputies for the work. They will be paid $10 daily for eight hour shifts, plus the cost of transportation and one meal per day.

Council's action came after various incidents of violence had been reported at the plant, which has been on strike for the last three weeks.

Bushkill Author, Artist, Subject In Art Magazine

The May issue of American Artist, national art magazine, stars three Bushkill residents as author, painter and model.

Featured is an article by Beatrice Edgerly, artist and writer, in private life, Mrs. J. Havard Macpherson, wife of the artist and art instructor of Bushkill. In it she describes a demonstration of the painting of a water color portrait, using Charloes O. Golden, for some years a resident of Bushkill, and now associated with the Macphersons in the Southern Arizona School of Art in Tucson, as the artist.

The third Bushkill resident to appear in the article is Allen Van Campen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Welles Van Campen, of Bushkill, whose water color portrait is used as one of the illustrations.

In the article, Beatrice Edgerly illustrates with photographs the step-by-step process of the creation of a portrait, the subject being Ben J. McKinney, for 18 years U. S. Marshal and former sheriff of Pima Co., Arizona.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Me and the weather vanes! We had our troubles yesterday settling down to anything. One minute a sort of damp heat would settle down so solidly that there didn't seem to be enough air to get a decent breath of.

The next minute the sun would come out bright and hot and you'd feel your spirits lifting with the rising ceiling only to go dipping and diving and tugging like a kite as the wind came up and the black clouds came over and the trees tugged at their roots, trying to fly.

You were either gasping for breath in an airless world or trying to get the breath back the wind was blowing away, yawning one minute and clutching at your hair the next.

The Monday wash was taking a beating, too, hanging limp and absorbing moisture part of the time and flapping like mad part of the time and in between hanging in tangled knots.

People, too. You'd watch their eyes getting heavy and their heads starting to nod as fatigue fastened itself firmly, only to be brought wide awake when the wind started sounding like an express train in the trees over head and the branches started banging against the side of the house like some ghostly visitor.

Maybe today the weather will settle down to one thing or another, but I've sort of given up hope for myself.

Beef and Sausage Loaf

Ingredients: 1 pound ground lean beef chuck, 1 pound bulk-style pork sausage, 1 egg, ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1 medium-sized raw potato (peeled and finely grated), ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 small garlic clove (peeled and crushed).

Method: Mix together the beef, sausage and egg with a wide fork or your fingers. Mix in thoroughly the bread crumbs, grated potato, salt, pepper to taste and garlic. Pack into a loaf pan (about 9 by 5 by 2¾ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Drain off fat and turn out. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and garnish with parsley if desired. This loaf has to be cut carefully while it is hot; it slices beautifully when cold. Thin slices of the leftover loaf are delicious reheated in a little butter in a skillet. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HANDY TIPS. Do your hands and arms appear gangling in abbreviated summer fashions? If so, you will see magical improvement the moment you try these actions before a mirror:

1. Make a loose fist with one hand and place knuckles on hip just behind hipbone; hold elbow in straight line with shoulder. Rest back of other hand behind body, low on hip. 2. Keeping elbow and wrist relaxed, rest one hand on thigh, thumb turned outward. Rest back of other hand behind body, high on hip.

With practice, the actions become second nature and what's more lead to equally pleasing variations. All of which increase your grace-ability!

What Young People Think

Scholastic Grades Number One Concern Of Modern Teener Set

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

Eugene Gilbert

GRADES, not girl-boy problems, worry today's teenagers most.

This doubtless will surprise those adults who are convinced young people are a carefree, irresponsible lot. They should listen to this:

Our survey of youngsters across the country shows that 42 per cent worry "a good deal" about getting good grades. More than 25 per cent say it is their chief concern.

Joe, an 18-year-old Dartmouth freshman, explains:

"I want to prove my parents are making a good investment."

Joe Zorch, Katonah, N. Y., says it this way: "I don't want to let my family down for their many sacrifices to put me through college."

Other teens have varied reasons for their concern over grades.

Kathryn, 16-year-old Minnesota girl, chalks up her school worry to: "I'm trying to meet standards set up by brothers and sisters."

Worries Are Real

Terence Gilheany, Forest Hills, N. Y., has done a bit of soul-searching. He says, "I believe I have become too caught up in the competitive spirit of modern education."

Most youngsters worry about something. Their parents might think teen-age troubles trivial compared with their own. But the anxieties of the young are very real and deeply felt.

The future worries an increasingly large percentage of young people. More than 33 per cent find their future a matter of nagging concern and 32 per cent think it is their biggest worry.

Why the future?

Youngsters worry about lack of plans or goals for the time when they'll be out of school and on their own. They're afraid they won't "find themselves." They're troubled that they won't be successful in their fields. The world in which they will be unprotected as well as unknown looms frighteningly big.

Boy and Girl Problems

After grades and the future come the problems most adults usually suspect are lurking around the corner all the time: popularity, boy-girl relationships, appearance.

One out of four teens are hot and bothered about their popularity—or lack of it. Carol, 16, says: "I'm always worried they're going to find something wrong with me."

About the irritating, puzzling opposite sex:

One out of four girls over 16 admit boys are their particular problem. Almost one out of three under 16 feel the same way. First they worry about how to get either one special fellow or an acceptable number of escorts. Then they lie awake fretting about how to keep the lads interested.

Meanwhile, the same young men are at sixes and sevens over the girls. The younger boys show more concern. Of the under-16 youths we interviewed 35 per cent say girls are almost more trouble than they're worth, compared with 24 per cent of the over-16s of similar persuasion.

One college man complains: "They cause your mind to wander while studying."

Adult Opinion Important

Both boys and girls—a good one-third of those queried—are concerned about their appearance because they feel attractiveness is necessary for success with the opposite gender.

But Don, a Massachusetts boy, is confident in this matter. He says: "My appearance is important, because after all, I have to keep the girls happy. Popularity doesn't worry me. How could it with my looks?"

Oh well, probably Adonis had a sense of humor.

Young people are concerned about what adults think of them. Twenty-eight per cent of the youngsters interviewed admit this is a major worry. A Massachusetts college freshman explains: "I consider them better judges of me than my contemporaries."

Margaret Johnson, 16, Fergus Falls, Minn., insists: "Naturally I don't want adults to think I'm a 'crazy teen-ager,' as they classify so many young people."

Practical considerations, especially money, plague more than one-third of the teens we questioned. They worry over insufficient funds for dating and for buying the things they want.

Hinkle Livengood of the University of North Carolina sums up his attitude toward money: "My only worry is that I never have any."

Cut Off Point

International problems trouble 28 per cent of the questioned youth. A Dartmouth sophomore worries: "I don't know how I'd stand up under battle and I'm afriad I might be 'chicken.'"

National problems concern 16 per cent.

A Chapel Hill, N. C. lad, Charles Black, answers our questionnaire: "National problems: I want to die of old age.

'International problems: Real old age."

Moral questions trouble 24 per cent. Jack Stout, 19, says: "Spiritual satisfaction and free conscience is of the utmost importance for happiness."

Two North Carolinians offer their solutions to worry:

Hugh, 18: "This is my prescription: If something can be done, do it; if a situation cannot be altered, don't worry about it."

Art, 18: "Be sort of carefree—happy go lucky. You'll live longer that way—without ulcers."

Twenty Area Students Graduate From ESSTC

TWENTY Monroe County residents were among the 129 graduates of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College who received their degrees yesterday morning.

The ceremony was held in the auditorium at 10 a. m., and marked the 64th class to be awarded degrees.

The program began with the filing in of the graduates and Rev. Harold C. Eaton's invocation and the first section of the commencement drew to a close with the chorus' rendition of "Send Forth Thy Spirit."

Major Rex Morgan, assistant professor of military science at Cornell's ROTC Unit was the principal speaker. His topic was "The Time to eRad The Stars."

The high point of the morning's service came right after the speech as Dr. Francis B. McGarry, dean of instruction, introduced the graduates, and president of the college LeRoy J. Koehler conferred the degrees.

The 20 local graduates were: Stroudsburg — Frank Andrew Hertung, David A. Frailey, Jane Anne Marshall, James Kent Miller, Patricia J. Papson, Fred E. Smith, and Martin Thomas Bryer;

Shapiro To Fight Reduction In Department

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—Harry Shapiro, staet welfare secretary, told some 400 social welfare workers today that he doesn't intend to let Republicans get away with a 27 million dollar reduction in his department's budget.

don't intend to let them get away with it. There's no rhyme or reason to these proposed cuts," Shapiro said at a raily.

Amount

"What it means is to destroy every program which we've undertaken and progressed in during the past two years."

Republicans, planning a 94½ million dollar overall slash in Gov Leader's proposed record budget would cut welfare to 194 millions

But Shapiro contended the slash actually will amount to 54 million dollars.

Green Sets Age Record In Congress

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—At 9:59 a.m. today a small, neat man, his eyes a-twinkle behind rimless glasses, hurried into room F53 of the Capitol.

As usual, Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI) was right on time. The hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he's the chairman, was scheduled to start at 10. As usual, he was the first senator to arrive.

About the only thing unusual was that on this day, when Green is 89 years, 7 months and 26 days old, he has become the oldest man ever to serve in the U.S. Congress, House or Senate.

Nature failed to cooperate with him on this great occasion.

Exercise

Green is fond of exercise — he recently gave up tennis, not because it's too strenuous but because he no longer has the time—and he started to walk to work as is his habit. After all it's only a mile and a half from the University Club, where he has bachelor quarters, to the Senate. It was drizzling rain.

"A friend came by in his car," Green said, in a hurt tone. "He insisted that I get in."

There has been considerable dispute among statisticians over the exact date for Green's record. He even was proclaimed champ once before only to have a new name bob up.

Now it appears to be certain that Green has beaten the record held by Rep. Charles M. Stedman of North Carolina, who died in office on Sept. 23, 1930, aged 80 years, 7 months and 25 days.

There's an endless supply of stories about Green.

About his frugality — he is one of the Senate's wealthiest members, but he's not inclined to throw money about. A cab driver, watching Green climb the hill toward the Capitol, said: "Look at him, always talking about exercise. The real reason he walks is to save 40 cents."

About the way he runs his committee — most chairmen diplomatically cover up absenteeism, but Green seems to delight in calling the roll.

United States Rejects Red Hungary's Legation Demand

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The United States today rejected emphatically a Hungarian demand to reduce drastically the personnel of the U.S. legation in Budapest.

The Hungarian demand "is another instance of a restrictive and arbitrary measure imposed by a Soviet satellite regime" State Department spokesman Lincoln White told a news conference.

"The United States rejects the concept implicit in this note that the Hungarian regime enjoys the prerogative of deciding the size of our diplomatic mission at Budapest," White said.

The Hungarian government has demanded that 13 members of the legation — more than a third of the staff — leave within six weeks.

In a note delivered Saturday, the Hungarian regime alleged that legation members have been "extremely active" in relations with hostile elements.

Supreme Court Denies Appeal By Moon

HARRISBURG, May 27, (AP)—Norman W. Moon's appeal against the death penalty for the 1954 fatal courtroom shooting of Judge Allison D. Wade was denied today by the Supreme Court.

"As long as we are to have the death penalty in Pennsylvania, certainly this is a case for its imposition," declared the majority opinion. Justice Michael A. Musmanno disagreed, stating in his dissent, "as long as we have in Pennsylvania the rule that an insane person should not be executed, certainly this is the case to apply it."

Moon, an electrician now 32, sprayed a volley of bullets from a pistol at the bench of the Warren County Court, killing Judge Wade almost instantly. He later maintained he was not sane at the time.

Default

Moon had been called into court for defaulting $1,600 on a support order for his wife.

The majority opinion, written by Justice John C. Arnold, said "we have reviewed both the law and the evidence in this record and have determined that all the ingredients necessary to constitute murder in the first degree have been proved to exist."

Moon asked the high court to set aside his death sentence and order a new trial because he contended he failed to receive a fair and impartial trial. The Warren County Court denied the request and Moon appealed to the Supreme Court.

There was on indication whether the appeal would be carried beyond the state's top court. Moon can also appeal to the State Pardons Board to reduce the death penalty, recommended by the Warren County jury which found him guilty three years ago this month.

Leader Issues Warning

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—Gov. Leader today urged motorists to guard against "needless tragedy" while driving during the Memorial Day holiday.

THERE'S A WHOLE SUMMER OF PLEASURE AHEAD

Make sure this FIRST HOLIDAY ...isn't your LAST

The most important preparation for any trip in your car is the sober realization of how much responsibility lies in your hands. Stay alert so you and your family stay alive...and no other family suffers needless tragedy.

IT COMES to this corner that the annual County Field Day may become a thing of the past within a few years. This event, which in former years used to draw every school within the confines of Monroe, is now down to the shameful number of only four participating institutions.

There was a time, not just here but everywhere, when the schoolboys county field day was an awaited affair. But today this seems to be a memory of the past.

Last week at East Stroudsburg Teacher athletic field only four schools—Polk, Chestnuthill, Pocono Twp. and Tobyhanna—raced, barrelled and what have you against each other. Missing were East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg junior highs, Barrett and Coolbaugh.

Some of the bypassing schools cite lack of time to prepare for such an event, while others abide by PIAA Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association physical examination ruling, and still others claim the loss of time from school doesn't balance the worthiness of the event.

On the PIAA regulations we pick no tooths, but on the lack of time for preparation and the loss of school time for participating, we could cite numerous instances that time was found for just as important extra-curricular activities.

This is only a one-day affair event. And, by far, more youths partiepate in this spectacle than any other single sports event in Monroe County.

It doesn't seem odd that no school in the entire county has a representative track team. But when the same schools toss away their one chance to field a team in the one track field, etc., event of the year, it does seem a right has been wronged.

We hope that next year, the two local schools, Barrett, Coolbaugh, see their way clear to resume activity in the Monroe County Scholastic Field Day. No better one-day recreation for the youth of our area was ever passed along to us by the past. It doesn't deserve to be put away with its founders.

Quick Pickups—Jack Rothenhausler returned to his old stamping grounds Sunday. The former Stroudsburg Poconos outfielder and pitcher took over the right field spot for the Strouds in its Pocono Mountain League losing the game to West End at Gordon Giffels Field.

Jack, a good hitter during the high-flying North Atlantic League days, found PM hurling a little rough in his opening game, going for the collar in four trips.

Jim Dave, the Stroudsburg Main St. grocer, reports that his golf clubs are now starting to talk. Jim, off to a slow start this season, is rounding in top form at Glen Brook Country Club, despite only being able to get in one day of golf a week.

Don Rau, the beverage distributor, had to hustle to get in part of the Barrett Major League Bowling Banquet the other night. However, the Tannersville native who is backer of the Swisher Beer team, was not early enough. He got to the feast just in time to hear the toastmaster close the ceremonies.

Shawnee Ladies Golf Luncheon

SHAWNEE LADIES' Golf Association will inaugurate a new season with a luncheon and informal golf, Friday, at the Shawnee Club rooms. The opening session will be in charge of Mrs. Sal Bourne, president.

A weekly tournament schedule will be drawn and given to the membership at Friday's get-together.

Yankees Blast Boston, 17-8

BOSTON, May 27 (AP)—New York crushed the Red Sox 17-8 tonight with a late-inning deluge that tied the season's high in run production. Bill Skowron, who thrives on Boston pitching, drove in four Yankee runs and hit a home run.

Dodgers Rout Roberts

PHILADELPHIA, May 27 (AP)—Duke Snider and Gino Cimoli homered, each with one on, and that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers all they needed to down the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1, tonight and rout Robin Roberts, who was nicked for his sixth loss against three victories. Dodger sophomore Don Drysdale pitched a two hitter.

Barrett's Rotary And Lions, Pocono Lake Post LL Wins

BARRETT ROTARY romped to its third straight win, and Barrett Lions chalked up its second victory to highlight action in the Pocono Little League last night. Barrett Rotary humbled Tobyhanna, 20-0, while its township counterparts—Lions—blanked Mt. Pocono, 9-0.

In another league duel, Pocono Lake Lions broke into the win column for the first time by defeating Tannersville, 3-1.

Johnny Ryan pitched and batted Barrett Rotary to victory, limiting Tobyhanna to four hits and going three-for-four at the plate. L. Shinnen shared hitting honors with Ryan, with a three-for- four hitting performance, including a homer. Tom May also homered for the league leaders.

Berger, Siglin Star

Jimmy Berger's three-for-four batting attack spearheaded Barrett Lions past Mt. Pocono. Jimmy Siglin hurled the mound masterpiece, holding the visitors to three hits.

Waldo Dyson's two-run homer in the first inning proved the big blow as Pocono Lake downed Tannersville.

Fisher outhurled Reuhlman and Hufford to gain the hill triumph over Tannersville. Reuhlman's was the game's top batsman with two hits.

Gartner Top Local Golfer In State Play

EAST STROUDSBURG High's Gearhart Gartner, District 11 golf champion, posted the top score of five local schoolboys linksmen in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Golf Championships at Penn State College over the weekend.

Gartner's tally, a 171 for 36 holes, however, failed to qualify the Cavalier for the finals as 25 were lower and qualified for finals. Gearhart placed 29th in the field of 50.

Other Scores

Other local linksmen's scores were East Stroudsburg's Roland Gartner, a freshman, 171; Stroudsburg High's Jerry Lambert, a sophomore, 174, and Tom Marsh, also of Stroudsburg, 177.

East Stroudsburg's golf coach James Werkheiser headed and guided the local delegation at Penn State.

Bill Bradford of Bethlehem had the best count of the Lehigh Valley aspirants, a 157, which qualified him for the final. However, he finished far down the field in the runoffs. Emmaus' Larry Carl shot a 176.

Kulp's Grabs Industrial Softball Lead

KULP'S FOUNDRY moved into first place in the Industrial Softball League last night, lambasting Coates Company, 23-8 on the victor's field.

An 11-run first inning proved more than enough for Kulp's. The winners tallied in every frame, but the second, to run up their high figure.

Collects 4 Hits

John Romansky led a 20-hit Kulp attack, with a four-safety outburst. Bob Herr got the big blow for the winners, a homer.

Vets Assume LL Lead In Stroudsburg

DEFENDING champion, Veteran of Foreign Wars, moved out ahead of the field in the Stroudsburg Little League last night by topping Wyckoff-Sears, 7-4, at LL Park. It was the second straight win of the young campaign for the Vets. The loss was W-S's first in two starts.

Despite the 11 runs scored, the contest was a strikeout contest as the loser's Fred Frantz fanned 13, and the victors' Glen Feiler and Glen Bisbing whiffed 11 and six respectively.

Old Pros—Williams, Musial—Pacing Field In Chase For Majors' Hitting Championships

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)— Ted Williams won his first of four American League batting championships 16 years ago. Stan Musial won his first of six National League batting titles 14 years ago.

Today, older, slower, but still effective with the bat, these two again lead their respective leagues as the major league baseball season approaches Memorial Day—the season's initial milestone.

Williams holds a commanding advantage in the American League competition. The Boston Red Sox' star climbed 17 points in last week's games. With a .411 average he's 50 points in front of runner-up Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

Much Closer

The National League race is much closer. Musial, in fifth position a week ago, jumped into the lead on the strength of a 12-point increase to .362. The St. Louis Cards' frst baseman had 11 hits in 21 times at bat.

Dick Groat of Pittsburgh, who suffered a severely sprained ankle in Sunday's game against Philadelphia, is second with .352. He picked up seven points before the injury. Groat is followed by Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, .348, Don Hoak, another Redleg, .347 and Willie Mays of the New York Giants, .316.

The performances of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson emphasizes further the closeness of the race. These two were one-two last week, but Aaron slumped 21 points and Robinson 16 and now they are tied for sixth place at .345.

After Mantle, with .361 in the American League, come Reno Bertoia of Detroit, .352, Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, .344 and Cleveland's Vic Wertz, .330. Wertz also is sidelined with a leg injury. Mantle gained five points, Bertoia dropped 12 and Fox lost 10.

Zernial Gains

Gus Zernial of Kansas City and Mantle, last season's triple crown winner, gained ground in the home run derby headed by Williams, who has 10. Zernial slammed three, Mantle two and both tied Washington's Roy Sievers for second place with nine. Sievers is the AL's runs batted in leader with 31.

Practices Today

WORTHINGTON Mower team of the Babe Ruth League will hold a workout today at the East Stroudsburg playground field, starting at 6 p.m. All team members are urged to report and bring along their equipment.

Musial Sparks Cards

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP)—Veteran Stan Musial, the leading hitter in the National League, unloaded a two-run homer and youngster Lindy McDaniel twirled tight baseball as the St. Louis Cardinals dropped the Chicago Cubs tonight, 6-2.

Varsity 'S' To Cite Today S-burg Senior Lettermen

VARSITY "S" Club of Stroudsburg will honor the senior letter winners of Stroudsburg High School athletic teams today at a banquet at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, starting at 7 p. m.

Senior lettermen in baseball, basketball and football will be cited at the fete which is held annually by the "S" organization.

Dr. George Ockershausen, head baseball and wrestling coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will be the principal speaker. Ockershausen's most recent athletic accomplishment on the "Hill" was leading the Warriors nine to the 1957 championship of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Baseball Conference.

Dr. George Ockershausen

Tickets Available

"S" officials announced last night that tickets are still available for the event, and may be secured from any member of the organization, Community Jewelers Store, Stroudsburg, and at the door of the Penn-Stroud Hotel dining room.

In the past the fete, citing the Mountaineer athletes, has served as a reunion for "old grads of Stroudsburg. "S" aides hope that this year's turnout will be a forerunner to a regular yearly informal alumni get-together.

The special holiday eve card at Dorney Park will include a field of more than thirty top stock car drivers of the Lehigh Valley Stock Car Racing Association as well as many other drivers.

8:30 Start

Starting at 8:30 o'clock there will be three 10-lap qualifying heats, two 12-lap semi-finals and a 25-lap feature race, all of which should provide plenty of thrills for racing fans.

The regular Saturday night program will go on as usual next Saturday night in addition to the pre-holiday events Wednesday night.

McHale, Strafaci Gain In England

FORMBY, England, May 27 (AP)—Jimmy McHale and Frank Strafaci played smoothly through the first round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today and Gene Andrews, another slightly elderly golf destroyer, did about as well in the second. But more than half the American delegation was dropped from the running before the long opening day was over.

McHale, a huge Philadelphian who has lost 12 pounds dieting in 12 months, shot the best golf of the opening round as he defeated Murray Vernon Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., 3 and 2, in on of the day's two all-American matches.

Today Strafaci was his opening match by a 4 and 3 margin from A. B. Taylor of Scotland and qualified to meet Ireland's Cecil Beamish, a former British Walker Cup player, in tomorrow's second round.

Named Hornell Pilot

HORNELL, N. Y., May 27 (AP)—Dave Bristol, an infielder with Wausau, Wis., in the Class C Northern Baseball League, today was named playing manager of the Hornell Red Legs in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League.

National Guard Chief Opposes Legislation

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—The head of Pennsylvania's National Guard said today a Republican plan to cancel proposed new armory construction in 1957-59 would hamper the guard's training and recruitment programs.

'By not allowing us to build new armory facilities, the Legislature will force Guard units to hold classes in crammed quarters," said Maj. Gen. Biddle, state adjutant general.

Biddle's comments related to the GOP's rejection of Gov. Leader's request for $1,171,250 to help finance 34 new projects in 32 communities.

The figure, chopped from the Property and Supplies Department's budget, would be the state's share with the federal government in paying for the new facilities. The federal government pays 75 per cent and the state 25 per cent of armory construction expense.

Change In Program Plans

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—ABC Vice President John Daly said today a scheduled appearance by TV interviewer Mike Wallace on the CBS show "What's My Line?" was cancelled at Daly's suggestion.

Wallace's interview with ex-gangster Mickey Cohen May 19 on Wallace's own ABC show has led to threats of libel action by Los Angeles police officials and apologies from Wallace and ABC.

Two Former State Employes Cleared Of Charge

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP)—Two men employed by the state during the Republican administration of Gov. Fine today were cleared of macing charges. Judge Samuel A. Weiss said the state failed to present sufficient evidence at their trail.

The two—Harold Gansel of Berwick and Ross Hill of Apollo — became the seventh and eighth persons cleared of macing charges since 15 were indicted in 1954.

Gansel was director of the Bureau of Inspection in the Dept. of Labor and Industry. Hill was a supervisor of the Pittsburgh office of the same department.

They were accused of forcing other state employes to make a contribution of 1 per cent of their annual income to the 1954 Republican primary election fund.

Disarmament Talks Sends Stock Market Down

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The stock market took its worst slide in 3½ months today, just a week after setting a new 1957 high.

Serious talk or disarmament brought sharp losses to aircrafts. Aluminums reacted sympathetically to the industry they supply so heavily.

Oils, which had been advancing, went to pieces as the market staged a general retreat.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.60 to $182.90 with the industrials down $3.00, the rails down $1.20 and the utilities down 30 cents.

Based on the decline in the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated two billion dollars.

It was the steepest setback since Feb. 11 when the market penetrated the old 1956 support levels sharply in a technical decline that lowered the AP 60-stock average by $3.80.

Of the 1,176 issues traded, declines far outnumbered advances by 690 to 261. New highs and lows for 1957 were even at 42 apiece.

East Borough Sailor Aboard USS Chilton

NORFOLK, Va., May 27—Marshall B. Decker ,teleman first class, USN, of 177 King St., East Stroudsburg, Pa., arrived at Norfolk, Va., recently aboard the attack transport USS Chilton after taking part in Carib-Ex, a full scale amphibious landing to test the vulnerability of the Panama Canal Zone defenses.

The assumption of the operation was that aggressor forces had taken over the Fort Sherman and Camp Pima area on the Atlantic side of the zone. An Army company acted as aggressor.

After rehearsal landings at Vieques Island, the Chilton steamed under simulated wartime conditions, of darkened ship and silent radio, to the objective where she conducted a series of demonstration landings before high ranking military and civilian dignitaries from Latin America and the United States.

Throughout the exercise, atomic defense measures, vertical envelopment and troop landing by helicopter were employed.

Clark Urges Formation Of Department

SEN. JOSEPH CLARK yesterday introduced a bill to create a new Department of Urban Affairs as part of the President's cabinet.

Behind the move is a growing feeling on Clark's part that the problems of large metropolitan areas need a centralized, coordinated agency with Presidential power behind it.

Clark points out that "two-thirds of our people now live in major cities and their suburbs."

"Our largest metropolitan area has almost 15 million people and at least a dozen areas—including both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—have more than a million," the senator notes.

"But our national government is still organized for the 'horse and buggy day' and is focused more on agriculture than on city problems," he continues.

"Without reducing the attention we give to rural needs, we ought to give equal attention to the complex urban areas where most people now work and live," the senator maintains.

"To help bring about this new emphasis, I have prepared this bill to create a new department to be called the Department of Urban Affairs with a Secretary who would sit in the cabinet," Clark said.

"This new department would bring together a number of Federal activities of greatest concern to burban centers—slum clearance and urban renewal, housing, aid for such community functions as sewage disposal and Civil Defense," he said.

Does your home help make your neighborhood a better place to live?

Check what you can do to improve both your home and your neighborhood

Neighborhoods change with the times. Your community, like thousands of others, is directly affected by our present expanding economy. As America continues her dynamic growth, you must be prepared for even greater changes to come. You should fully understand the neighborhood consequences of national growth . . . and be fully prepared to meet the challenges it poses to you personally.

You and your neighborhood must plan for the future

All over America, neighborhoods and individuals in communities like yours are planning for tomorrow. They are protecting their own personal and community security by growing with the times . . . by working at home and in groups to solve problems like these:

1. In the next ten years, we must house about 25 million more people.
2. Simultaneously, we must find space for almost 25 million more automobiles.
3. America is already handicapped by 5 million dwellings that are beyond repair, and another 20 million in urgent need of repair.
4. Each year, for approximately $10 billion spent in new housing, blight wipes out almost $5 billion worth of housing . . . we gain only 50¢ for every dollar we spend annually in new construction.

It's important for you and your neighborhood to act now

These immense national pressures affect your neighborhood. Too often a community or its individual citizens fail to act in time. Instead of changing constructively, of growing with the times, an area is forced to grow haphazardly—in a makeshift, dangerously ill-planned fashion.

Act now to strengthen and safeguard your home and neighborhood. Stay alert for signs of creeping blight. Support the local groups that fight substandard housing, that seek better living conditions for all. Most important, help protect and improve your neighborhood by protecting and improving your own property.

Start right here. The first check-list at right pinpoints common danger spots from which blight breeds and spreads. The second check-list offers you valuable hints on home improvement. Use both to measure the worth of your home to your neighborhood and nation. By taking pride in your own property, by working with your neighbors for the community good, you better everybody's way of life.

Here's how ACTION and many local groups can assist you

ACTION—the American Council To Improve Our Neighborhoods—is a national citizen organization dedicated to home and neighborhood improvement. It has already aided many individuals and groups. It can help you.

Try to get the local facts first. Some of your most valuable local sources for aid and information are listed below.

For local information on your community's improvement program, contact your:

1. Planning Director, Elected Officials, Housing, Redevelopment and Renewal Officials.

For local information on home repair, neighborhood and civic group programs, contact:

2. Business Groups, Realtors, Builders and Building Materials Suppliers.
3. Service Clubs and Civic Affairs Groups.
4. Special Advisory Commissions and Councils.
5. Health and Welfare Agencies.

If you need more advice on a specific home-improvement or group project, write a letter explaining the exact information you need to ACTION. Help is always at hand. Play your part by improving your own home, then interest your neighbors in necessary neighborhood-improvement projects. You can encourage many others by your example.

How well does your home measure up?

	Yes	No
1. Are your floors, foundations, windows and door frames firm?	☐	☐
2. Are bathroom conditions sanitary, kitchen facilities adequate?	☐	☐
3. Is your roof leakproof, eaves and chimneys in good repair?	☐	☐
4. Is your property painted, are grounds properly kept up?	☐	☐
5. Is your home heating supply safe and adequate?	☐	☐

Which of these useful hints can help you?

1. Houses, like automobiles, perform better and retain their value longer if given frequent attention. ☐ ☐
2. Many of your local merchants offer "package" plans that combine home financing, materials and labor. ☐ ☐
3. An architect's advice often saves more than it costs in materials and service. ☐ ☐
4. Your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce will often recommend reliable home-repair specialists and merchants. ☐ ☐
5. Free cost estimates are given by builders, plumbers, carpenters, electricians and appliance dealers. ☐ ☐
6. Many lending institutions are glad to advise you on short-term personal or long-term mortgage loans. ☐ ☐

Job Guides Presented To 400 Seniors

A LABOR market job guide, described by the Pennsylvania State Employment Service as a summary of local job prospects for new workers, is being distributed to 400 seniors in Monroe and Pike County high schools.

"Perplexing questions confront hundreds of high school and college graduates at this time of year concerning their employment prospects," said John P. Dougherty, manager of the East Stroudsburg PSES office.

"Many others who leave school before graduation either temporarily or permanently face the same problem," he added. The job guide is designed to advise young people on the type of job to seek, how to find it, how to apply special aptitudes and the outlook in various fields of work.

Reviewing the local employment situation, the job guide notes that this area "offers a wide variety of manufacturing industries employing approximately 4,200 persons. Normally, not much fluctuation develops in the volume of employment; nevertheless employment opportunities for new workers develop regularly from turnover.

"Printing and machinery manufacturing are the leading manufacturing industries. Three thousand workers are employed in government, mostly at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot.

"But by far and away the largest single group of workers, as may be expected, find a livelihood in trade and service. The service industry, which includes all of the hotels and Summer resorts, employs approximately 2,700 workers throughout the year and more than 8,000 in the Summer."

Limitations are reviewed in the job guide. For example, it points out that "employers generally like to hire alert, industrious, conscientious young graduates, in fact some jobs are restricted to new graduates. The latter is particularly true of jobs where chances for promotion and a favorable long-range outlook carry more weight than high starting pay.

"Job competition will be keen and it is well to remember that you are competing with older, seasoned workers. Employers are selective. Planning and guidance for the most suitable job is most necessary. It is important therefore to understand the limitations inherent in many job opportunities.

"Age is a factor—laws regulate employment of minors. Experience in indispensible to most skilled jobs. Physical condition is important on many unskilled jobs.

"Technical education is a must for practically all professional positions. New workers should not place too high a valuation on their abilities and should not be reluctant to accept beginner's jobs at beginner's pay," the job guide advises the graduates.

The summary concludes with a guide to specific occupations or fields of work, divided as follows: clerical, service, skilled, technical-professional, unskilled, entry and agricultural.

Bond Sales Falter In Monroe County

SAVINGS BOND sales in Monroe County took a dip last month, compared to the corresponding period a year ago.

County Bond Chairman E. H. Wyckoff announced last night that E and H bond sales amounted to $99,756 in Monroe County last month, while $106,331 worth were sold in April, 1956.

During April, more than $33-million worth of series E and H savings bonds were purchased throughout the state. As a result, the state has attained 34 percent, or more than $143-million, towards its $421-million quota for the year.

Leader

Pennsylvania again leads such outstanding industrial states as Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana in percentage of quota attained for 1957.

Charles S. Krumrine, state chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds Division for Pennsylvania, declared that buying savings bonds helps the whole economy as well as that of the individual.

"Today, the United States Savings Bonds program is an integral part of American life in every community in our nation," said Krumrine.

"The new improved 3¼ percent Series E and H Bonds now offered by the Treasury should increase each citizen's awareness that very definitely a part of his savings belong in U. S. savings bonds," he concluded.

Residents Of County Asked To Protest

A NEW STATE program which would reimburse counties for child welfare services will be "wiped out" if "false economy" moves in the State Legislature continue unchecked, the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn. warned yesterday.

Through its regional director, Virginia Vigneron, PCA issued the following statement urging local Monroe County citizens to write letters or telegrams protesting cutbacks in funds for the Department of Welfare.

"We are informed that the bill appropriating funds to the Department of Welfare for the 1957-59 biennium has eliminated entirely the budget item for reimbursement to counties for child welfare personnel and other expenditures for maintenance of children.

"Unless this appropriation (estimated to require $1,675,000 and included in the budget approved by the Governor's office in an amount of $1,000,000) is restored to the appropriation bill, the new program of State reimbursement to counties for child welfare services will be wiped out.

"It is important that you communicate with your representative and Senator at once."

Father, Son Team To Appear In 'Musicade'

WELL-KNOWN locally for their active participation in civic and church singing appearances are father Leonard and son Bob Kranendonk, veteran members of Fred Waring's famed Pennsylvanians, who appear at East Stroudsburg State Teachers 'College tomorrow at 7 and 9:15 p.m. The show "Musicade," will be presented locally for the benefit of the Monroe County YMCA.

For many years prominent residents of the Shawnee-on-Delaware community, Leonard and Bob live on a farm not far from their long-time employer, Fred Waring. Until two years ago, Leonard's "Shawnee Tomato Juice Cocktail" was a big favorite among patrons of Waring's Shawnee Inn. The family grew many of their tomatoes, imported quantities of them from nearby Pennsylvania and New Jersey tomato farms, and bottled them in their own 'plant."

Holland

Leonard was born at Oostburg, Holland. A baritone throughout his professional singing career and a 15-year veteran of the Waring organization, he met and married his wife—an organist and former singer named Elsie Lemkuil—shortly after his arrival in the United States. Their three children were born in Michigan.

An older son was killed in World War II and a daughter lives in Michigan. Bachelor Bob, also a baritone, has lived with his parents at Shawnee since they purchased their home near Shawnee Lake. His "start" in show business was as a member of the Waring-sponsored "Festival of Song" which toured the nation in 1952, and he joined the Pennsylvanians the following year.

Well-known as solists as well as their father-and-son duet work, they will appear among the 40 singers and musicians in "Musicade" at ESSTC tomorrow.

Bob And Leonard Kranendonk

Tickets are available at the YMCA, Flagler's Drug Store and the Wirt Miller Grocery Store in Stroudsburg. They are also available at the Kresge Drug Store in East Stroudsburg.

U.S. Forces Woefully Weak In Korea

SEOUL, May 27 (AP)—U. S. forces in Korea today are woefully weak. Their unmanned battle positions are overgrown with weeds—an invitation to Communist attack.

In contrast, the North Koreans and Red Chinese across the demilitarized zone have built up an army in four years of armistice far more powerful than at any time during the Korean War.

The Communists have new jet planes, new tanks, new artillery and in the opinion of South Korean intelligence officers they may also have atomic weapons. All the weapons in South Korea are either obsolete or obsolescent.

A 10-day inspection by an Associated Press team found alert, seemingly well-trained South Korean soldiers manning 150 miles of the front from well-entrenched positions, although they were equipped with old, World War II weapons.

But a five mile-wide sector, athwart the classic invasion route north of Seoul, is entrusted to an American division only 60 to 80 per cent of normal strength. The South Koreans—criticized during the war for failing to stand and fight alongside Americans — call the American sector the weakest link in the battle line. U. S. field commanders openly express concern.

This is how the opposing sides stack up today:

In the south, there are about 700,000 South Korean troops, about 80,000 Americans including two infantry divisions and logistics and command units, and fewer than 5,000 other United Nations troops, including a British regiment in the process of being withdrawn. This compares with an 800,000-man U. N. army at the end of the Korean fighting in 1953 —but the weapons are old now and have not been replaced because of a ban in the armistice agreement against introduction of new-type equipment.

In the north, according to intelligence reports, the North Koreans have a reorganized and re-equipped 400,000-man army and the Chinese Communists have a 350,000-man garrison. There are also at least a million Red Chinese troops across the Yalu River in Manchuria. The Communist forces in Korea during the war were estimated at more than a million.

The Communists have ignored the ban on new weapons. They have shipped in 1,672 artillery pieces, 340 new tanks in addition to the 480 they already had, 500 jet and 300 propeller - driven planes.

On the Allied side is the knowledge that a fast jet bomber could deliver an atomic bomb from its Okinawa base to a Korean target in under two hours, and the general assumption here is that no holds will be barred if fighting breaks out again.

YMCA Lists Schedule For Summer

THERE WILL BE plenty of things to do at the YMCA this Summer, according to Mrs. Inger Miller, program secretary.

For the younger set, besides the regular schedule, three camps will be held this Summer. Registrations are open for the Day Camp for boys and the Summer Fun Club for girls 8 to 13 years age. Activities for both camps will be held at Saylors Lake, except for special events and trips which are included in each period.

But transportation is provided with special bus service in East Stroudsburg. First period is from June 24 to July 6; second, July 8 to July 19; and third, which is only for boys, July 22-August 3.

For the five, six and seven year olds a "Stay at Home Camp" will begin June 24 and continue for at least four weeks. The program will run Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 2:30.

Most of the activities are at the YMCA building. There will be musical activities, crafts, story telling, swimming instructions, swimming for fun, and outdoor activities. A rest period will be held each day after lunch. A weekly rate of $5 is charged which includes the milk. Lunch is brought from home.

For the adults a Summer membership will be available for three months at $5. This summer a special swimming class for adults will be scheduled.

Tomorrow at 6:45 p.m. a special course in ball-room dancing for teen agers is starting. Mrs. Daisy Longenberger, a graduate of the Arthur Murray School will be director. Mrs. Longenberger has just completed a course for adults. Enrollment will be limited.

The Summer schedule goes into effect June 10. Additional information about YMCA activities may be obtained by calling 832.

Three Escape From Prison

WILLIAMSPORT, May 27 (AP)—Three men escaped from the Lycoming County prison sometime last night or early today by knotting bedsheets into a rope and then scaling the wall.

Prison authorities said the three, whose escape was discovered early today, were Robert Lynch, 20, of Williamsport, serving time for larceny; James Dunn, 19, of Williamsport, held on suspicion of felony, and John Kissell, 19, of Lock Haven, jailed for burglary.

Commission To View Future

HARRISBURG, May 27 (AP)—The State Fish Commission will go into session tomorrow to map possible cutbacks in its services brought on by legislative inaction on a proposed fish license fee boost.

A source close to the commission indicated the agency was prepared to consider the possibility of closing two or three of its nine hatcheries; reduce travel allowances for fish wardens; and pare proposed lake construction.

Explorer Scouts Make Plans

THE EIGHT Explorer Scouts who were selected to participate in the 1957 Wyckoff High Adventure met Saturday night at Shawnee as guests of E. H. Wyckoff.

It was in the nature of an orientation meeting for the boys and their host, who will leave here June 8 for a canoe trip down the Miramichi River in Canada. They will be gone approximately 10 days.

Trip

Making the trip will be these Explorers: Larry Christian, Troop 93 of Grace Lutheran Church; Henry Schultz, Post 96 of West End Lions Club; John J. Taylor and Herman Taylor, both of Troop 89 of the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club; John Kintz, Jerry Ifft, Roger Monti and Ronnie Gouger, all of Post 87 of theh Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

The Explorers were selected for the trip by a committee of three adult leaders appointed by William E. Schiebei, chairman of the Pocono District. The committee consisted of Jacob Kintz, chairman of camping and activities; Edgar Hall, assistant district commissioner for Explorer roundtables, and Dan Miller, district scout executive.

The selections were based upon the boys' participation and leadership in the scouting program in their home, church, school and community.
